English-Speaking Operatives Met To-day and Voted to Strike

LAWRENCE, Jan. 19.—The strike of 15,000 textile workers was augmented today with the accession of approximately 1400 English-speaking operatives. These comprise perchers, menders, burlers and speckers. It is believed this action will cripple several mills as these operatives are the last to handle the cloth before it goes to the shipping departments. It was voted to make the same demands as those of the foreign employees who struck last week.

The meeting was held in Pythian hall, and it was estimated that more than half of the English-speaking operatives were in attendance. Numerous addresses were delivered, some urging that a strike be declared, and others declaring in favor of remaining neutral. A vote was finally taken, resulting in a declaration of strike. It was arranged to join the Industrial Workers of the World and preparations were made to appoint strike and organization committees.

The infliction of heavy sentences upon strikers found with concealed weapons was continued in the police court today when Judge Mahoney fined Ette Guinani, a member of the strikers' executive committee, $100 and sentenced him to one year in jail. The charge against him was that of rioting and carrying a concealed weapon. Witnesses testified that the defendant was prominent in riots of Monday, that he fired several shots and that while doing picket duty this morning he flourished a revolver in the faces of operatives to intimidate them.

PICKETS ON DUTY INDUCED SOME OPERATIVES NOT TO RETURN TO WORK

LAWRENCE, Jan. 19.—The situation in the strike of 15,000 operatives, which has been in force for a week, seemed unchanged when the mills opened today. About one-third of the usual number of operatives appeared at their places this morning, proportionately the same number that has been at work for the past two days.

Over 100 pickets, stationed in the vicinity of the Arlington mills stopped the operatives on their way into work and endeavored to persuade them to join in the strike. The strikers were largely successful, it being estimated that about 200 operatives, 600 lack speckers, and 100 menders who have been working during the strike, heeding their wishes and remained out of the mills. No attempts to prevent entrance of workers by violent methods were reported, although two women strikers engaged in a short scuffle in their places this morning, proportionately the same number that has been at work for the past two days.

The picketing in the mill district by strikers was kept up with increased forces but everything passed off quietly at the hour of opening the mills. Because of the presence of an extra large band of strikers at the corner of Cross street and Broadway members of Company K, 15th regiment, were hastily dispatched to the place but after patrolling for 15 minutes, it was seen that there was no sign of trouble and the militia returned to their regular stations. Although it was believed that the Lawrence duck mill would reopen today the operatives who appeared at the gates ready for work were informed that the mill would probably resume work next Monday. No reason was given for the increased shutdown. At the woolen mills, the Ayer, Washington and Wood, today was pay day and a large number of operatives put in an appearance at all places. The saloons were reopened today after a shutdown of three days by order of Mayor Scanlon. It is believed, however, that they will close again tomorrow for three days, the opening being in accordance to law, which prevents closing more than three days consecutively.

AN ARREST MADE MEMBER OF STRIKERS' COMMITTEE HAD A LOADED REVOLVER

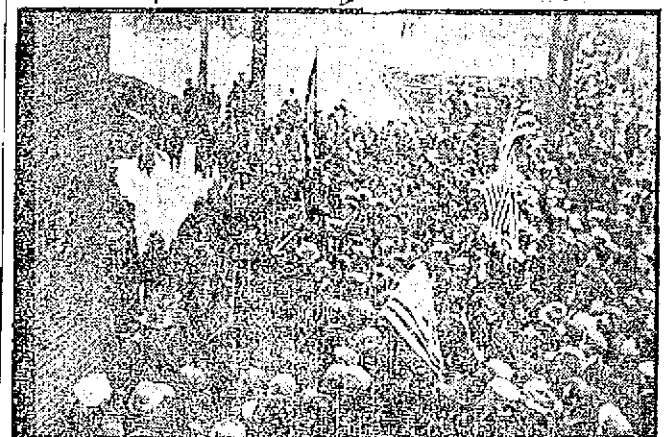

LAWRENCE, Jan. 19.—Precautions have been taken by the officials of the Arlington mill to protect their extensive property. Militiamen are continuously on duty.

LAWRENCE OFFICIAL

Says That Conditions in Lawrence Will Become Worse

Mr. Timothy Riley, of the department of overseers of the port of Lawrence, was a visitor at the city hall this forenoon. He came to Lowell in connection with the business of his department and the charities department of this city. He was looking up settlements.

The city hall reporter for The Sun met Mr. Riley and the latter (talked) very interestingly of the turbulent condition of affairs in Lawrence at the present time.

"I hope you will not put me down as a calamity howler," said Mr. Riley, "when I venture to assert that the real hard time will come in Lawrence next week. The strikers will receive their back pay today and tomorrow and by Wednesday of next week they will be broke and perhaps desperate. We have got to look back but a year or two, in the time of the panic when the mill operatives, mostly foreigners, surged on city hall and demanded assistance from the city. It looked pretty dangerous there for a while but we managed to pull through all right."

"The condition at the present time is worse than at the time of the panic because they feel that their grievance is greater and they are worked up to such a pitch that it is almost dangerous to speak to them."

Storekeepers Selling Out
"The storekeepers in Lawrence, men of foreign birth, most of them Italians, perhaps, are selling out what goods and provisions they have in their stores and they are not ordering any more provisions or any more goods. They can foresee the demand that will be made upon them, and they know that the men and women who will make the demands will not have the money to pay for what they want. The storekeepers cannot afford to take chances on feeding hungry men and women when they have no way of knowing how long the present condition of affairs will exist. Their exposure to their customers will be that they have nothing in their stores."

State Will Step In
"A state visitor has made his headquarters at Lawrence this week. The demand on the state for assistance will be very great and the city is not offered to assist the strikers to any very great extent. The state may order them to Tewksbury, but when families cannot be cured for at the state hospital. There is only one ray of hope that looks good to me, and the manufacturers can kill it or make it brighter. If they will make the necessary concessions and the operatives go back to work all will be well. But will they do it?"

May Be Deported
The state doesn't have to do any more than to say that the men and women out of work may go to Tewksbury. That will let the state out, but only a small portion of them will go there and men with families certainly will not go. There is one thing that will prevent a great many of them from asking for assistance, providing they know about it, and that is the law which says that foreigners asking for assistance before having been in this country for one year may be deported. It is probable that but a few of the foreigners are familiar with this law, but the more intelligent of them may instruct the others. They are not as innocent as some people would have you believe. Most of them know that that miller's mill, the Wood mill, has paid for itself inside of three years and they can't understand why they should have to work for starvation wages when a great mill like that will pay for itself in three years."

Mixup at City Hall
Relating some of the scenes he witnessed in Lawrence within the last few days, Mr. Riley referred to a mixup at the city hall there when the strikers who had planned to meet were told they could not use the hall. A squad from Battery C of Lawrence was stationed at the entrance to the city hall and the crowd kept moving up closer and closer and the position of the soldiers was not an enviable one.

Saw Steel Glisten
The assistant city clerk was looking out of a window on the second floor of the city hall and he was in a position to see all that was going on. He saw the crowd surging toward the soldiers at or near the door and presently he saw steel glisten in a foreigner's hand. The man was shifting what looked to be a revolver from an inside to an outside pocket of his coat. The assistant city clerk lost his mind for a moment and he rushed forward under arrest the crowd was excited by the appearance of other soldiers from the rear.

Sharpshooters on Roofs
Mr. Riley said that whenever a disturbance took place if one looked to the roofs of surrounding buildings one would see soldiers there, sharpshooters, and their business was to pop the first one in the mob of angry strikers who pulled a gun or other dangerous weapon. The action of the fellow at city hall who had the razor, Mr. Riley said, was seen by a sharpshooter who had taken up his position on the roof of a neighboring building and as Mr. Riley looked up he saw the sharpshooter on his knee and his rifle was leveled on the man with the razor.

FOSS STILL GUARDED

The Governor Did Not Take Usual Walk This Morning

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—The guard for the Governor began two days ago as the result of rumors of Black Hand movements in his direction was maintained last night and today. The governor's house in Jamaica Plain was under the watchful eyes of two state policemen and three Boston police officers.

The governor omitted his usual four mile walk to the state house today and came in town in his automobile which carried an officer on the front seat.

Two members of the state police were placed on duty in the executive chambers as soon as the governor had arrived.

The state guard against Black Hand work has been extended also to the home in Everett of Colonel Sweetzer of the 16th regiment, in command of the provisional regiment on duty at Lawrence.

There were rumors that foreign bitterness against methods in handling labor troubles had turned in Colonel Sweetzer's direction and his beautiful residence in Everett was guarded all night, while two officers were on duty today.

It was stated at the state house today that warning of an attempt on the life of Governor Foss came to the state house on Wednesday from four reliable sources and several other persons called up with similar rumors. The first intimation of the kind was from a certain business men's organization in New York. Twenty minutes later a Lawrence mill agent called up with a similar statement. Then followed the same report from a mercantile house in Boston, and lastly a friend of Private Secretary Holman.

THE PACKERS' TRIAL

Two Said to Have Received Beef Reports

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Two defendants in the trial of the packers were mentioned yesterday as having had personal knowledge of the test cost of beef from weekly reports mailed to them by a subordinate.

Walter A. Wall, formerly a branch house manager of Morris & Co., at St. Joseph, Mo., testified that in 1906, 1907 and 1908 he mailed to Edward Morris and Louis H. Heyman, reports showing the figures in the test cost of beef.

He said he mailed the reports to these officials at the Chicago office of Morris & Co., with the name of the

HOW NATURE CURES CONSTIPATION

And why drugs are being used less and less for that purpose.

The system of natural bathing for keeping the bowels pure and free from poisonous matter, which constipation, the cause of the most common diseases, is the best and most reliable remedy. It has been used for centuries and is now being used by thousands of people, as to the most reliable constipation.

There are other methods which purify the system of the accumulation of waste matter, but none so effective as the system of natural bathing, which is now being used by thousands of people, as to the most reliable constipation.

On the contrary, the system of natural bathing, which is now being used by thousands of people, as to the most reliable constipation.

Its action is so simple and natural as to immediately appeal to all common sense. That is the reason for its great and deserved popularity.

Ask for Booklet "Why Men of Today are Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient."

Mr. McFarland, head of the dressed beef department, instructed him to stop sending the reports to Edward Morris. The witness said he sent two copies of the test cost of beef figures after that to Louis H. Heyman.

It was the first time since the beginning of the trial that the government has directly connected any of the defendants with the much-discussed test cost of beef, which the prosecution contends played such an important part in the alleged packers' combination. Wall was questioned by United States Senator W. S. Raymond, who appears in the case as one of the special counsel of the government.

Profits on Beef

Harry A. Timmins, chief accountant for Morris & Co., began his sixth day on the witness stand when court convened.

Timmins said Morris & Co. charged up 1 per cent. a year for disposition of the preparation of its profit and loss statement. He said the prices for hides and also fluctuated at times so as to make a difference of 4 cents a hundred pounds in figuring the test cost of beef.

In January, 1910, hides sold for 17 1/2 cents a pound, while in March, 1910, the price dropped to 15 1/2 cents a pound by road. After he said, sold for 14 1/2 cents a pound in January, 1910, and in March 12 1/2 cents. The witness said that about 20 pounds of fat were obtained from each steer and that the weight of hides averaged 65 pounds.

Timmins mentioned the National Box company, Morris' packing company, Morris' beef company and the Morris fertilizer company, an subsidiary corporation of Morris & Co. He said the corporation also owned such in Chicago, Ill., and Co. of Boston and Meier & Loeb of Newark, N. J. Morris & Co. had no interest in the latter two companies.

Tracing the Books

John Hunter and Albert G. Hubertson testified as to the disposal of books, shown to the district attorney by the government. They said they had ordered their destruction in the regular course of business, but could not remember the date of these particular volumes.

Walter A. Wall, for 18 years manager of branch houses at East St. Louis and St. Joseph, Mo., for Morris & Co., gave his present occupation as a clerk for the St. Louis Independent Packing company. The witness said he made daily and weekly reports to the Chicago office of shippers received and total sales.

It was at this point that the witness brought in the names of the defendants, Edward Morris and Louis H. Heyman, in connection with the disposal of test cost of beef statements.

STAGE BEAUTY TELLS SECRETS OF YOUTH

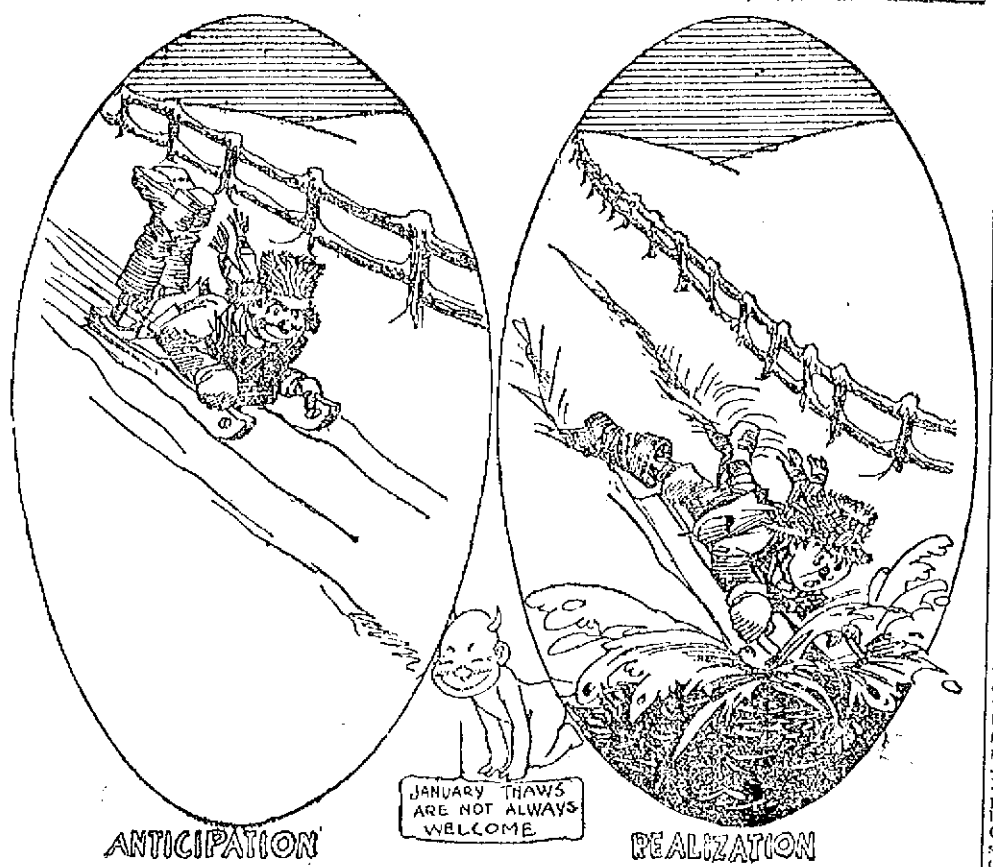

(Theater Review in The Arch)

"I have often wondered at Jane Clayton's youthful beauty. In a burst of confidence she told me her complexion was due to a lotion which she makes by dissolving a small original package of vasoline in a half-pint of witch hazel. Massaging with this has kept her skin clear, soft and satiny and preserves its girlish bloom."

"Her long, wavy and lustrous locks are due to dry shampooing." She says she never has time to wash her head and would not if she could, because wet shampoos make the hair dull and lifeless. A dry shampoo leaves the hair soft and fluffy. To make the dry shampoo, she puts a couple of ounces of vasoline in a small original package of vasoline and mixes with it the contents of a small original package of vasoline. It brushes out easily and takes all dirt with it.

"With a jar of Mother's Salve to cure sore throat and colds and prevent catarrh, this actress travels forty-eight weeks in the year, always looking the pink of perfection, and sings at every performance."

LIFE'S DISAPPOINTMENTS

THEFT OF $60,000Is Charged Against a
Boston Broker

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Benjamin H. Cram, aged 32, of New York, a member of the brokerage firm of Cram, Milliken & Co., which had offices at 50 Congress street, was arraigned before Judge Sanderson in superior court yesterday on an indictment accusing him of larceny. He was held in $25,000 bail and was committed to default.

His partner, Alfred A. Milliken, has been arrested in New York and it is understood he will waive requisition.

They were indicted some time ago on charges of conspiracy to steal from customers and conducting a bucket shop. Both were held in $500 bail then. They furnished sureties.

The new indictment, four by the grand jury this month, contains 39 counts. The principal loser is Alice E. Robinson of Wintthrop. She lost more than $50,000. She deposited collateral in transactions with the firm and it is alleged the defendants converted it fraudulently to their own use.

Other customers who are alleged in the indictment to have lost securities and money are James H. Leary, Thomas M. Grayson, Robert F. Day and Frank Davis. The loss of these persons exceeds $100,000.

No counsel appeared for Cram but he said his attorneys were Anderson & Willes.

Henry H. Bond, counsel for Mrs. Robinson, caused the presentation of the defendants. Asst. Dist. Attorney Webster has charge of the case.

THE LONGSHOREMENAre Holding Out for
Complete Victory

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—The longshoremen's strike involving more than 2,500 men who seek an increase in wages entered on its third week today and showed no signs of letting up. The strikers favor continuing the strike until a complete victory has been won and believe that the strike breakers will prove inefficient workers and that the steamship agents will soon ask their former employees to return to work. On the other hand it is said that the steamship officers are satisfied with the present workmen.

PADRONE SYSTEMMore Severe Law is Advocated

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Representative John H. Cogswell of Lynn, Arthur M. Huddell of the Boston Central Labor Union, John Weaver Sherman of the Massachusetts State Branch, A. F. of L., and John H. Gordon, representing the Heclers' Union of Lynn, were before the committee on judiciary yesterday afternoon on the bill introduced by Representative Cogswell to make a felony the practice of forcing and agents accepting bribes for obtaining jobs for workmen, principally of the "padrone" system of Europe in Massachusetts.

Mr. Cogswell's bill increases the penalty from a minimum of $10 under the existing law to $25, with a maximum fine of $50, with the alternative of imprisonment not exceeding three years in state prison.

He cited numerous instances of Armenians in Lynn who were paying $10 to foremen for two weeks and who if they worked two weeks more had to pay $12 more.

He said what he wanted was to get this class of cases into the district attorney's office so that the burden of prosecution shall be on the state.

Arthur Huddell said that he had the same experience in the construction work. It is one of the hardest things the labor union have to fight to get these foremen prosecuted.

John Weaver Sherman said that this matter was before the convention of the Massachusetts State Branch, A. F. of L., last September and it was voted that it was a matter on which legislation should be pressed. It was first introduced on the district attorney to prosecute the cases; the penalty should be made large enough and severe enough that the law wouldn't be a joke and, third, that if the labor department should be created, as he hoped, although he was not confident about it, then that department should continue the enforcement of the law.

It was suggested by the committee that there be inserted that upon information and complaint the district attorney shall proceed to prosecute the parties complained of and that the penalty be fine or imprisonment or both. The hearing closed.

NERVOUSNESS

This Man Given Up by Doctors

Took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

and Was Cured.

Mr. Elmer E. Warkick, a foundry-

man, of No. 103 Ash street, Albany,

N. Y., says:

"I had an attack of the grip which left me in a very weakened condition.

Soon after my legs began to have numb spells and dizziness went through

me. Little by little I lost the use of both legs. I had to be in bed for four or five weeks. For a year I was out of work because I was unable to get around. I had a doctor from Detroit

look me over and he said there was no

slow for me; another doctor said that it was only a question of time when I would die. I kept running down. My stomach and digestion seemed affected by the paralysis. I could keep nothing on my stomach except raw eggs. I was extremely emaciated and a nervous wreck. I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in a paper and took them for six months because

I saw that I was improving after I had used the first box. As the end of that time I was cured of paralysis and my general system was restored to a healthy condition. I don't know how many boxes of the pills I used but I do not begrudge the outlay as it was much smaller than the other treatments. I have never had any recurrence of the paralysis and am now in good health. I owe my life and health to the painstaking and long-continued use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I believe they are the best remedy for paralysis."

There is absolutely no way of reaching the nerves with medicine except through the blood. The nerves receive all of their nourishment and support from the blood, which under healthful

conditions, carries the elements needed to rebuild wasted nerve tissue.

Every person who is interested in the home treatment of nervous disorders should read for a new edition of our free booklet entitled, "Diseases of the Nervous System."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no poisonous or habit-forming drugs, and no sufferer who gives them a trial will not find the danger so common in taking drugs which only deaden pain.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams

Ordinarily I don't look for a heavy business in January, but Today and Saturday I am going to try to beat the dullness by a slashing cut in prices.

Every Yard of Goods Marked Down

RAIN OR SHINE, GET IN AND SEE THEM

I love good woollens—I love to handle them—I love to buy them—I love to sell them—I love most of all to sell them low—to put within the reach of the multitude qualities intended only for the few.

But I have no reverence for value—value with me being but a conditional or relative form.

A snowball in the Sahara might buy a camel from the parched Arab. A palm date in the Arctic on the other hand might buy a glacier from the sweet-toothed Esquimaux.

As you frolic and picnic this summer among the delightful hills of New England, winter suits and overcoats will have less interest than straw hats. Just now, however, winter garments might prevent pneumonia.

I must, therefore, make you buy now. I can't frame woollens to keep and look at just because the value and quality are better than I should give for the price you are willing to pay. I have to sell them regardless of value.

Remember you don't have to buy when you pay me a visit, unless the striking values I offer you compel you to do so.

RESORT

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 18.—Arrange-sentence was commuted last evening by the president, to a sanatorium were

Mrs. Morse from Washington. She left for Atlanta at 5 o'clock this morn-

It is said he will go to a local hospital

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Thomas
O'Hara, 10 years old, of 613 Amsterdam avenue, received mortal injuries yesterday afternoon while coasting in Riverside park at Ninetieth street.
When half-way down the hill he steered his flyer into another sled and bounced over to the curb. When his sled hit the curb he was thrown and landed on his head, his forehead striking the stone. The other boys started to run to him, but when they saw him unconscious they became frightened and ran away.

The boy remained lying in the snow
for ten minutes when a chauffeur speeding along the drive saw him.
He called Policeman Flood of the West 100th street station and the two of them bundled the boy into the automobile and rushed with him to the Red Cross hospital, 100th street and Central Park West, where he died last night.

WE CELEBRATE TOMORROW

Our Second Anniversary

IN LOWELL

We take extreme pleasure in being able to tell you that our store in this city has met with more than ordinary success. The business we have built up with your aid in this short space of time is truly remarkable.

Isn't this fact convincing proof that the Riker-Jaynes Drug Store is an unusual store? Our store is not in the most prominent location in the city. Two years is surely not a long time for a business to develop in.

Don't you admit that our service must be better, our prices lower, our goods more reliable?

If you are not a Riker-Jaynes customer, it is because you have not given us an opportunity to serve you.

We have tried hard to make this occasion a memorable one, and the offers are really exceptional values. This sale will be in effect Tomorrow and Monday and Tuesday of next week.

We reserve the right to limit quantities.

"TERRY" McGOVERN To Manage Lynn Team in New England League

When the bell rings for the baseball players to jump into the dugout and show the fans what they can do with the willow, and how they can handle the hot ones, all will be happy. Of course, baseball is "the" game in this country, regardless of where you throw your bones. That's the reason why all-fandom is anxiously awaiting the sound of the bell. Or the interesting news here appended, the feature from a New England league standpoint is the appointment of Terry McGovern as manager of the Lynn team. Other "info" is included, and while you're listening for the big noise look it over.

Arthur J. McGovern, generally known to fandom as "Terry," was unanimously chosen manager of the Lynn New England baseball club at a meeting of the directors on Tuesday evening. The appointment was made after some delay and many candidates had been considered. The field of aspirants from the higher leagues were first considered and for one reason or another it was out of the question to select one there. Then it came down to pick one from the minor league candidates. Tom Lammon was given much consideration, but he was a native of South Boston, where he first learned the game in his school days. At present he has 1000 signatures, and Bert Weeden, catcher for the also given due consideration and a feeling prevailed that the directors would like to concede something to the signers if it were possible. They, after much and varied expression of opinions, felt that Terry McGovern was in line of promotion and in fairness and justice ought to get the appointment. Some directors also felt that from a purely business standpoint that Terry was the right man for the position, because he can play first and manage at the same time.

Terry was informed later in the evening by the directors of his appointment and acquainted him with the duties and powers. He has been given free and absolute authority to hire, discharge or trade players and the success or failure of the club the coming season will be entirely up to him. The committee, without doubt, will give him all the assistance possible in getting the players, but in the handling of the men and which one is to be kept or let go lies wholly in Terry's hands. The club has offered Manager McGovern a substantial bonus if he has the club finish first or second in the pennant race.

Manager McGovern is 29 years old, born in 1882, and is a native of South Boston, where he first learned the game in his school days. At present he has 1000 signatures, and Bert Weeden, catcher for the Boston Nationals, are running a cigar and pool room at 232 Union street. Terry at present weighs 150 pounds. He began his first real playing with Boston college and retired when it was discovered that he had played professionally. Then he played with Lehigh Valley, centre fielder of the local club, and there caught Jack Connors, now with Connie Mack. That was in 1901 and 1902. Fred Lake dug McGovern up as being a corner and played him on the championship Lowell club in 1903. That fall Terry was sold to the Boston Americans, then under Jimmy Collins, for $1800.

McGovern remained with Boston that year and the following two years played with Toronto of the Eastern League. In 1907 he joined Brooklyn and played there for four years. Last season he captained the Lynn club, and is now manager—Lynn item.

The appointment of "Red" will undoubtedly be good news to his many Lowell friends. Terry is some favorite here, especially with those who occupy the bleachers along the initial square.

Manager O'Brien of Fall River is correlating recruits and he has already signed up a couple of catchers who, on paper at least, look good. Both are six-footers and come here highly recommended.

Harold Ladd of Warren, Me., and Oliver Dempsey of Brooklyn are the catchers of whom Manager "Ladd" expects wonders. Ladd is 412 feet in height and weighs 175 pounds. He is 26 years old.

Last year Ladd was taken south with Cleveland, but after practicing for a few days was stricken with typhoid fever and allowed to return to his home. Afterwards he succeeded in securing his unconditional release so that he was at liberty to sign up with Manager O'Brien.

Dempsey is five feet, 11 1/2 inches in height, weighing 174 pounds. He is 22 years old. He first attracted attention as catcher for the new representative St. John's college. Afterwards he played with Hempstead in a league made up of clubs on Long Island.

The baseball slumps have discovered that the Detroit team has allowed many valuable players to slip out of its grasp. Among them are Thomas of the Athletics, Archer of the Cubs, Warhop and Cree of the Highlanders, Kirke of the Boston Nationals, Stinson of the next year's Highlanders, and Suggs of the Cincinnati and Schaefer of the Washingtons. Yet the Tigers have managed to play winning ball just the same.

"Hub" Prudhoe, the Boston National pitcher, states that his arm, which was operated on last fall, is feeling fine. He writes that he expects to have a good season. "Hub" is working in his father's bank. At Bridgewater, down hunting with "Hub" early in the fall. Here's what "Hub" writes of the trip: "That 'guy' walked me to death, and so I gave him my gun and sold my dog. No more hunting for me."

An exchange publishes the following explaining how the Red Sox will be managed the coming season: James McInerney will manage the team from the bench. Jake Stahl will manage it from the field, Robert Mott will manage it from the box office, and John I. Taylor will continue to manage it from the press stand.

Hugh Bradley signed his contract

TO GROW HAIR ON A BALD HEAD

BY A SPECIALIST
Thousands of people who are balding and falling out of hair are trying nearly every advertised hair tonic and agent, and without result. They are disappointed and discouraged. Yet their case is not hopeless. The following simple home remedy has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and restoring the damaged scalp. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist. Buy from a druggist. Lavana's Compound, 25 cents. Menthol Crystals, 25 cents. If you wish it performed, add half to one teaspoonful of Talcum Powder, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so common in the cheap hair tonics. Do not apply to the face or where hair is not desired.

Before publication we presented this preparation at "Hills-Jay's" drug store, 100-102, and they state that they have used it many times for their patients who report most astonishing results from its use.

For the season of 1912 with the Red Sox yesterday.

The players who have now signed Boston American contracts are Jack Stahl, "Duffy" Lewis, Charlie Wagner, Jack Lewis and Hugh Bradley.

As "Buck" O'Brien is at his home in Brooklyn for the rest of the week, President McAleer may ask the clever athlete to drop into headquarters and look over matters for next season.

Edna Cloutie, the "Knuckles" ball pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, signed his contract yesterday in Detroit and forwarded it to President McAleer. He declares he is in fine condition and ready to go to the training camp at a moment's notice.

Edna Cloutie picks Boston or Detroit for the banner winners in the American league this year. He says "Black" has been getting several young pitchers, and I believe he realizes he must do some bettering. Harry Davis will be greatly missed by the Athletics."

The Detroit owners of the Providence International league team are planning many improvements for the Providence park, and if the team is given the right kind of support, a new concrete grandstand will be an early venture.

WAS FOUND DYING

Aged Hermit Saved by the Police

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 18.—Charles Lambert, aged 90, an eccentric Englishman, who for 30 years or more has lived the life of a hermit near Mosquito pond, about four miles from this city, was found in his hut last night nearly dead. Sickness and hunger laid him low.

A telephone message to Chief of Police M. J. Healey early in the evening conveyed the information that the hermit had not been seen for some weeks and Sergt. John T. O'Dowd and Patrolman M. J. Moriarty were sent to make an investigation. Receiving no reply to repeated knocks at the door, the officers forced an entrance and found the aged hermit stretched on a couch helpless and dying of hunger, having been unable because of illness to help himself in any way for a number of days.

Lambert was scantly clad and there was neither food or fire, and that he was not attacked and killed by the rats which had eaten the shoes from his feet is a miracle.

He was wrapped in blankets and taken to the hospital by ambulance. The officers, where because of his age and weakened condition the outcome of his experience cannot be determined as yet.

Little is known of Lambert's antecedents. He came to this vicinity many years ago and it is said because of a disappointment in love affairs purchased a number of acres of land in the vicinity of Mosquito pond and has lived the life of a hermit ever since. He is an English subject, having always refused to take out naturalization papers. Because of his eccentric ways and manner of living, he was one of the well-known characters of this vicinity.

JOHN MITCHELL

Got the Highest Vote for Delegate

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 12.—Although attacked in a resolution before the convention of the United Mine Workers of America as a "labor leader" in the grasp of the capitalists, John Mitchell, ex-president of the organization, received more votes than any other candidate for delegate to the American Federation of Labor, according to the report of the tellers to the miners' convention yesterday.

Mitchell will appear before the convention to defend his advocacy of the National Civic Federation from which he resigned last year in compliance with a resolution adopted by the miners' convention at Columbus, O., and the assembly voted yesterday to pay the expenses of his trip to this city. He has declared the Columbus convention was packed against him.

When the tellers' report of the election by the miners was read yesterday it made known that John P. White of Oklahoma, Ia., had been re-elected president by a majority of 42,124 over Thomas L. Lewis, and that Mr. Mitchell had received 107,487 votes for delegate to the American Federation of Labor. Of the six other delegates chosen, Fred Walte got the highest

A NOTABLE TRIBUTE

Services of Judge Hadley Highly Praised on His Retirement

Judge Samuel D. Hadley, of the second police court, has performed his last duty as judge. His services for the past several years in the court room were the subject of a public tribute given by the members of the court, the police department, and the members of the city council. The members of the court and the police department will spend the remainder of his days with his family. Judge Hadley announced that it was the last day as judge of the court.

This morning over fifty members of the court and the police department were in police court to pay respect to him. I am glad to be relieved of my duties in order that I may enjoy my remaining years with my family, but at the same time I do not like to part with my friends. I have been in the court room for many years and will miss the court room.

"I would have been here 25 years next August, the time that I became clerk of the police court. At that time the judge appointed his own clerk. I was a young man. Even though I do say so when I entered the court I changed the whole character of the methods and these methods are in vogue at the present time.

Judge Hadley then became re-elected, and after telling about his installation as clerk in 1887, gave a brief history of the court, mentioning the fact that the building had been burned, the removal of the court to the opposite side of the street and the transfer of the judge and his family to the new building.

Continuing Judge Hadley said: "It was in 1875 that we came into this room and we have remained here up to the present time. When I first started in the court there were many members of the bar but at the present time there are no lawyers who practiced there who are living. George W. Batchelder, my former friend, has passed away. His death was referred to various lawyers when he had met during his many years in court and also those who appeared before him when he was the clerk of the court. He had a special tribute to those who have gone to the great beyond, and referred to them in the highest manner possible. He also spoke of the members of the bar of the present time and thanked them for their presence on the occasion of his retirement.

Judge Hadley then spoke about the time of his appointment as judge and said that at about the same time Joseph C. Fayer was occupying the office of city marshal.

Referring to the experience of his duties in court, the judge said: "I have made mistakes, but I have always tried to do what was right."

He then spoke of the high efficiency of the members of the bar of this city, the police department, and also congratulated the press on the honest efforts they had made to report the trials correctly.

In speaking of his experiences, His Honor said that his office door was always open in order that the people might confer with him. During the years he was in office he heard the stories of thousands of persons and gave his advice. He said that he seemed to do good.

"I am old and another man should take my place," said Judge Hadley. "I want to devote myself and time to my home and family. I wish at this time, on the occasion of my retirement, to express myself to the members of the bar, the members of the police department and the press for their kindness. At the present time I am 81 years of age and believe that it is time for me to retire. I will welcome my successor but I will ever keep in touch with this court. Gentlemen, bid you farewell."

Tribute From the Bar

There was loud applause at the conclusion of the speech by Judge Hadley and after the outburst of enthusiasm had subsided William H. Bent, the dean of the legal profession in Lowell, arose and said: "May it please Your Honor, I wish to say a few words and pay my respects to Your Honor on your retirement. An occasion like this should not pass without being honored.

"In 1869 I was admitted to the bar. At that time you were 17 years in the court as clerk of the police court. Not a single man is practicing law in Lowell at the present time who was practicing then."

Lawyer Bent then recalled old firms which were in Lowell and spoke of the illustrious members of the bar in those and the present days. He said that in the good old days men of culture and classic knowledge graced the Lowell bar and paid a very complimentary tribute to the late Mr. Green-hall.

In referring to cases which he had tried before Judge Hadley he said that after due consideration he always found that the decisions of the court were satisfactory. He then became further familiar and added in conclusion: "Both as a clerk and as judge it has been a great pleasure and great satisfaction to me to be with Your Honor. I say that personally and know that to be the sentiment of the other members of the bar."

department tendered his regrets upon the retirement of the judge and on behalf of the police department spoke in a complimentary manner of the justice exercised by the court during the time that he was a prosecuting officer. In conclusion he said that he hoped that the judge would enjoy a well earned rest and wished him happiness and contentment until the end.

Lawyer John J. Hogan spoke of his regret upon the retirement of the judge because he felt that the court was losing a kind parent who had acted in that capacity for 39 years. He said that Judge Hadley was tender to all and then referred to the manner in which he had disposed of cases during his incumbency.

James H. Carmichael said he had been a member of the profession for the past 21 years and when he started to practice law the judge was clerk of the court. He grew reminiscent, after which he spoke of the universal kindness and courtesy of Judge Hadley and referred to him as the people's judge. He also spoke of the juvenile court, which was inaugurated by Judge Hadley and the system of probation at the present time. In conclusion he said that the judge was a kind and affectionate father to the children who appeared in court and that that part of his life should be rewarded.

Judge Pickman
Associate Judge John J. Pickman spoke in a very complimentary manner of Judge Hadley and after dwelling on his judgment in disposing of cases, spoke of his great learning and said his writings, his love for poetry and of the history he has written.

Judge Pickman said that Judge Hadley never secluded himself, but interested himself in everything and was the foremost man in Lowell when it came to civic reform.

The next speaker was Francis W. Quinn and he told of Judge Hadley's long and faithful service and trusted that he would enjoy peace and happiness in his retirement which he richly deserves. He expressed his regret at the retirement of the judge but wished him a long, happy and useful life.

Frederick P. Marble addressed the judges and members of the bar and expressed his warm and sincere regard for His Honor.

James Stuart Murphy recalled the retirement of the judge and said that cases tried before Judge Hadley in the local court were tried in a manner just as thorough as in the superior court. In conclusion he said that he felt that the retirement of the judge was a big loss to the community.

Daniel J. Donahue said that he was sorry to have to say that he had to bid his honor good bye. He has tried many cases before Judge Hadley and although there were adverse decisions rendered he felt that the court dealt with the different cases in a conscientious manner. He said that he had never seen a worthy litigant going out of court without having received justice. In conclusion Mr. Donahue said: "The public loses the greatest friend that they have in the retirement of Judge Hadley."

Solomon W. Stevens spoke of Judge Hadley as being an honest, earnest and sensible man. He expressed his deepest and heartiest sympathy upon the retirement of His Honor.

Dennis J. Murphy spoke of his appreciation of the manner in which the judge had used him and also the way he administered justice.

John P. Parley spoke of the high dignity of the court under the guidance of Judge Hadley and J. Joseph O'Connor referred to the kind and courteous treatment that he and other members of the bar had received. At the conclusion of the speechmaking all present sang "Auld Lang Syne."

NARROW ESCAPE

BLIND MAN UNAIDED ATTEMPTED TO CROSS STREET

A rather pathetic sight was witnessed at the corner of Market and Central streets this morning. A man who was afflicted with the loss of his sight was standing at the crossover waiting to get by. The traffic at this point was very heavy and the going was in poor condition. The man was about to cross over just as an electric car and several heavy sleighs were passing. A number of men were looking at the unfortunate man, but it remained for Daniel E. Hogan to go to his assistance. The latter took the man by the arm and escorted him to safety on the other side. The blind man thanked Mr. Hogan for his kindness and continued on his journey up the street.

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Urge Add sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney trouble, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Finally, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end, I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I still know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will send me a copy of this medicine, I will send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr. Frank Lynott, I notice symptoms number—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 6070

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that; I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and who practices free of charge, and I will do that.

DR. T. FRANK LYNOTT who is giving away $10,000 worth of medicine.

I can say further that this medicine has been vouchered for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements. It will stop rheumatism, it will stop pain and backache, it will stop the frequent desire to urinate, it will heal, soothe and strengthen. You will be better in every way for having taken it. There is not an ingredient that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself so that you may be personally convinced.

Due to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is now and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder and rheumatic diseases. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.

If you need medicine such as I have, if you are anxious to be cured and don't want to spend any money LOOKING for cures, write me. Read the symptoms over and let me hear from you today.

These Are the Symptoms:

- 1—Pain in the back.
- 2—Too frequent desire to urinate.
- 3—Burning or obstruction of urine.
- 4—Pain or soreness in the bladder.
- 5—Pain or soreness in the ureters.
- 6—Griping pain in the stomach.
- 7—General debility, weakness, dizziness.
- 8—Pain or soreness in the right ribs.
- 9—Swelling in any part of the body.

SURELY BREAKS UP A BAD COLD

Relieves Severe Grippe Misery in a Few Hours

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pope's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken will cure Grippe or break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

You distinctly feel the cold breaking and all the disagreeable grippe symptoms leaving after the very first dose. It promptly ends the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pope's Cold Compound in the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery so promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pope's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

increase in the output, instead of throwing men out of work, makes work for more men in that trade.

Take the cotton industry. Between the years of 1825 and 1845, the old hand loom was superseded by the power loom. About 1849, when the weavers of Manchester, England, became convinced that the power loom had come to stay, they were positive that instead of there being work for 5000 weavers, there would be work for only 1500. Under the circumstances you can hardly blame them for what they did. They smashed and burned the power looms. But the power loom came just the same, and in Manchester the average power loom is turning out about eight to ten times the output that was turned out by the hand loom, and instead of 5000 operatives, there are 255,000. For every yard of cloth that came out there are now between 50 and 500 yards.

It means merely that all you have to do is to bring it into the world, and the world uses it. Now, that where cotton goods in 1849 were a luxury, to be used only by the rich, throughout the civilized world has cotton goods as an absolute daily necessity. This is the meaning of increased efficiency.

Wealth of World

"The wealth of this world comes from two sources,—what comes from the earth and what man produces; and any set of men,—workmen on the one hand or manufacturers on the other,—who adopt a restriction of output as a permanent policy, are robbing their own kind of what justly belongs to them. I am not saying it is not necessary to restrict the output sometimes; but there is no excuse for adopting restriction for a permanent policy, either to hold up prices or to make work for more workmen.

"For the second cause why workmen go slow, we are entirely to blame. The workmen have nothing to do with it. If we are making any article of manufacture, say a pen for instance, let us assume that the workman is making 10 of them in a day, and working by the piece, he makes $2.50 a day. The foreman suggests that he make them for 25 cents apiece, and the workman is glad to do it. In the course of a year he has made 360 pens, and he is very well satisfied, getting $5 a day instead of $2.50. But right here, come in the board of directors. They discover that many of the workmen are earning five dollars a day, where the ruling wage is $2.50 a day. This will never do in the world. We are ruining the labor market. So the foreman, acting under instruction, cuts the price so that the workman can earn only $2.50.

"Now, gentlemen, I have heard particularly in the last year or two, a great deal of talk about the degeneracy of the workmen of this country. Personally, I do not share those views. In the least. I believe that the working people of this country on the whole are as kind a group of men as any other group of men in this world. But whatever they may be, they are not fools; and it takes only one experience like that, to make workmen 'soldier' for the rest of their lives; to make them establish as a firm, set principle, that they will do as little work as they can, instead of as much. That is practically what is going on throughout the industrial world.

"What has scientific management done? In the average establishment into which it has been introduced it has doubled the output per man. The doubling of the output has very materially diminished the cost of manufacture, and has increased the profit of the manufacturer on the one hand, and in most cases has somewhat diminished the selling price of the product. The manufacturer has profited through increased dividends, and the consumer has profited through reduction in price of the goods. But the workmen have gained more than either the manufacturer or the public. They have paid from 30 to 100 per cent. higher wages than are received by the men in competitive business right around them.

"Yet this is not the greatest gain that has come to the workman. It has come from the fact that under scientific management they have come to look upon their employers as friends instead of enemies. In 30 years, during which scientific management has been gradually coming into use, until last summer there had been a strike in any establishment working under scientific management; and last summer there was no reason for one. It occurred because of the foolishness of the managers, and lasted only four days.

A Mental Revolution

"In its essence, scientific management involves a complete mental revolution on the part of the workmen as to their duties toward their own work and toward their employers, and a complete and equally great mental revolution on the part of the managers as to their own duties and the duties they owe to their employees. Without this complete mental revolution scientific management does not exist. It is for this reason that in the most elementary establishment it takes from two to five years to introduce it.

"The only hope of obtaining the initiatives of the mind, is to deliberately set out to give them something more than other people give them. Even if you do that, the response will be very

GREAT INTEREST

DISPLAYED IN THE LECTURE OF MR. TAYLOR

Mr. Taylor was then introduced and his lecture was listened to with great interest. His address being on the principles of scientific management where the employees are men engaged in co-operative industry. Speaking of the workingmen of this country who believe it for their interest to go slow instead of going fast, and that their interests are best served by turning out little work as possible each day, instead of as much work as possible, the speaker said:

"Now this is one of the greatest fallacies that possesses the working people; and it is growing rapidly in this country, as it is in Europe. 'There are two causes for this form of belief on the part of the working people. For both of these causes the most of our class—that is the employees—and the men who have a different type of education are mainly to blame. One is the fact that the workmen, take the doors were thrown wide open for them and a large number of them gathered in the gallery. President Greene called to order at 7 o'clock, and welcomed the guests in behalf of the board of trade. In his opening address, Mr. Greene called the assembly's attention to the fact that although directly the opposite happens. An in-

"Stains? They're Easily Taken Out," says Anty Drudge.

Mrs. Fidget—"Do you know, Anty, I am getting to be a regular crank. I watch every egg-mark or stain that the children make on the napkins and table cloth, and I get so nervous I can't enjoy my meals."

Anty Drudge—"Don't mind the stains and above all don't get nervous. Just rub Fels-Naptha soap on the spots, soak in cool or lukewarm water and rub lightly, and your napkins and table-cloths will be spotless."

The housewife is quite likely to be judged by the appearance of the wash as it hangs on the line. It is the one part of the housework that is all out of doors; all in the eye of your neighbors.

"How nice that wash looks" is a coveted washday saying. If you knew—it was either Fels-Naptha soap or too much work that gave the nice look. Drudgery may give it; Fels-Naptha soap will give it without drudgery.

Fels-Naptha makes the clothes clean and pure, because it DISSOLVES every particle of dirt.

You first soap the clothes, roll and place them in cool or lukewarm water for half an hour. You then find that only light rubbing is needed to make them pure as driven snow.

And it's as good for every other part of the household work as for the wash. A trial will convince you. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

MORSE IS SET FREE

CHARLES W. MORSE.
Banker Whose Sentence Was Commuted by Pres. Taft.

Pres. Taft Commuted Sentence of the Convicted Banker

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—President Taft today commuted the sentence of Charles W. Morse, last night committed to expire Morse to expire at once. This action immediately of the national banking laws of the attorney-general, based upon the following report of Surgeon-General Torney:

"A careful review of these reports makes it clear to my mind that he is suffering from a combination of diseases due to degenerative changes which are incurable and progressive. The reports show that both the condition of the kidneys and the heart are growing worse. I regard the attack of cardiac dyspnea, or heart-block, from which he suffered on the morning of the 15th instant as an ominous occurrence."

"In my opinion the prisoner's duration of life will be in all probability less than one month if kept in confinement, and in the event of his release under commutation of sentence, it is not probable that he will live as long as six months."

Mrs. Morse, who arrived here yesterday from New York, was informed late last night of the president's commutation of her husband's sentence. She will start today for Atlanta to join her husband.

Immediately after the president's action, the attorney-general telegraphed to Warden Meyer of the Atlanta Penitentiary, who was technically in charge of Morse, although he had been removed to the Fort McPherson hospital, to release the prisoner.

The army surgeons at Fort McPherson were similarly instructed. Morse will be freed by the telegraphic order. It being unnecessary for the authorities at Atlanta to await the formal warrant of commutation which will be sent by mail.

Efforts made for a complete pardon were unavailing, and under the law Morse could not be paroled until he had served five years. Recent efforts in his behalf showed that his friends wished to take him to Carlsbad for treatment and last night it was deemed probable here that he would be taken abroad at once.

The commutation of Morse's sentence was the end of months of unremitting effort by Mrs. Morse and the banker's friends. Almost since the day the door of his cell in Atlanta closed upon him, Mrs. Morse and influential persons have besieged the department of justice, and through it the White House, for some mitigation of the sentence. Mrs. Morse, in person, conducted a canvass among senators and members of the house of representatives.

Until the past few months, however, all efforts were fruitless and President Taft and Atty. Gen. Wickersham refused to consider a pardon or commutation. Recently reports from Atlanta indicate that Morse's health was precarious, and the president caused several investigations to be made, as a result of which the prisoner was transferred from the prison to the Fort McPherson hospital.

Last week, after further investigation by army and navy physicians, President Taft, through the attorney-general, authorized the transfer of Morse from Fort McPherson to the army and navy general hospital at Hot Springs, Ark.

Reports from Atlanta after this announcement, however, that Morse could not be taken to Arkansas and friends indicated that they wished to have him removed entirely from federal supervision to stop the depressing mental effect which the knowledge that he was a prisoner had upon his physical condition. Commutation crowned their efforts.

DIVISION I, A. O. H.

TO OBSERVE THE 45TH ANNIVERSARY, FEBRUARY 15th

A largely attended meeting of Div. I, A. O. H., was held in Hibernian hall last evening. President Fahy presided. Four candidates were initiated and three applications for membership were received. The committee in charge of the arrangements for the forty-fifth anniversary of the division which will be held on Thursday evening, February 15, reported great progress. The committee plans to make this affair a great success. The affair will take the form of a "Ladies' Night." Invitations to the other Hibernian divisions and the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. WIVES TO TESTIFY

In Effort to Prove Alibi
for Husbands

BROCKTON, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Harry C. Howard, wife of Mayor Howard; Mrs. William H. Powers, wife of a local democratic leader and herself prominent in St. Patrick's church; and Mrs. Edward Gilmore, wife of Gen. Foss, will be summoned as witnesses against Patrolman Chester W. Osborne, against whom charges have been preferred by ex-Representative Edward Gilmore and ex-Alderman William H. Powers. They will be expected to give testimony to refute the statement made prior to the municipal election by patrolman Osborne to the effect that he saw Mr. Gilmore and Mr. Powers leave the house of Mayor Howard at 3 o'clock one morning, 10 days before the election.

The three ladies will give testimony to assist their husbands in establishing an alibi that morning. The hearing will be next Tuesday morning at city hall, and will be public. Patrolman Osborne is now under a suspension of 30 days, Mayor Howard having charged him privately with making an untruthful statement regarding the alleged visit of the two democratic leaders. Gilmore and Powers brought the same charge this week, and also charged the patrolman with being illegally married. Claiming he married Miss Nettie Beers Sept. 4, 1904, within two years after he had been divorced from his first wife.

The second charge was first learned by Osborne and his wife Wednesday and yesterday afternoon they were married again by Clinton E. Packard, assistant city clerk, in the latter's office, Judge Charles C. King having requested the clerk to perform the ceremony without waiting five days as required by the new law. Patrolman and Mrs. Osborne were accompanied by their two children.

Not in years has any case been so widely discussed in public, following the private hearing given Osborne by Mayor Howard.

freely shed in Judge A. R. Webb's court yesterday when Mrs. Frances R. Lisbon, a handsome young woman, suing her husband, Harry D. Lisbon, for divorce, declared that her husband wanted to sell their 6-year-old daughter Margaret to an Italian count for $50,000. Judge Webb immediately granted her the divorce and she left the courtroom with her little daughter clasped to her breast.

The young wife said her husband came home one night several weeks ago and, breathlessly exclaimed: "Oh, Bossie, we can be rich. An Italian count has just promised to give $50,000 for little Margaret. We'll let him have baby and we'll get the money. We'll be rich. I told him I would bring Margaret to him if you would consent." Mrs. Lisbon said she faltered at the proposition. The husband, day Mrs. Lisbon entered divorce proceedings against him.

DESPERATE FIGHTING

1,000 Men Killed and Wounded in Battle at Yaguache

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Jan. 19.—Over 1,000 men were killed and wounded in a battle yesterday at Yaguache to the south of this city. An army supporting the Quito government, under the command of General Julio Andrade, formerly Ecuadorian minister to Colombia, attacked and defeated an army of Guayaquil troops, supporting the provisional government proclaimed by General Montano under the command of General Flavio Alfaro.

EXTENSIVE REPAIRS

Being Made at Local Post Office

Great alterations are under way at the local post office. The roof is being replaced, while the new furniture for the work room is being installed. A carload of furniture from Portland, Me., arrived in this city a few days ago and immediately the pieces were set in place and the work of installing it began. New cases for the distribution of letters and papers and also for the general delivery have been installed. These cases are larger than the old ones and they are more up-to-date. They are of solid oak, made strong and durable, and of pretty design. They are also equipped with lockers and deeper holes. The carpenter's rating card is expected in a few days, as well as general desks to replace the old ones. The postmaster's office has already been refurnished with oak furniture, and the new window sashes which have been covered with glass will also be put in use within a few days.

SLEIGHS HELD UP

Poor Going in the Streets Today

Owing to the poor traveling conditions in the down town district today, many heavy sleighs were held up. In the business section, the streets were practically bare. This of course made the going on runners almost impossible. Many wagons were in use today and the drivers of the latter had the laugh of the men who were holding the sleighs on the streets. At the corner of Market and Central streets, conditions were similar to those in North Main street. At this point a driver of the city with a pair of horses was stalled. He was kept quite busy, especially during the morning. In the vicinity of the Middlesex street depot the thoroughfares were in bad condition and here too many traveling sleds got stuck. In the afternoon most of the traffic was done on wheels.

TRACKMAN KILLED

HE WAS RUN DOWN BY AN EXPRESS TRAIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Frank P. Nolan, a trackman, was run down and killed in the subway city yesterday just under Brooklyn, when an express train, carrying 1,000 passengers, struck him. The train was delayed for nearly half an hour.

The matron of the train that killed the man told his story to the police. He said: "As I was standing the curve between Sixth and Seventh streets under road pressure I thought I saw something dark, but rather vaguely formed, moving along the center of the track. It was very dark down there and so I did not see it until it was close to me. I saw it was a man, but it was too late. I threw on my brakes and the train held over him. I guess the whole lot of cars passed over him, for I saw his legs sticking out from under the wheels. He was a widow and two children."

A JANUARY THAW
BOSTON, Jan. 19.—West New England farmers called a regular January thaw arrived today in the wings of a southerly gale which brought warm weather and light snow. In New England, the thaw was particularly welcome, especially in the north. In New England, the thaw was particularly welcome, especially in the north.

The strike on duty at the mill and in addition to this the iron fence surrounding the mill has been heavily guarded with electricity. Included in the mill buildings is a large naphtha plant containing several thousand gallons of naphtha. The arrival of about 100 strikers from Boston this forenoon was investigated by the strikers, but it was not learned where the strikers were after leaving the train. The arrest was made during the early morning hours. The strikers were taken to the police station. This was the first time the strikers have been taken to the police station. CASCARETS FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently But Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases that pain in the back of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any. Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascarets tonight will strengthen you out by morning, a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little bodies need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

JOHN GOLDEN

LOOKS FOR A LONG STRUGGLE IN LAWRENCE
BOSTON, Jan. 19.—John Golden of Fall River, president of the United Textile Workers, after several days in Lawrence investigating the strike, was in Boston yesterday afternoon in consultation with Governor Foss. "While we are all interested in settling the strike, I fear there is no prospect of an immediate adjustment," said Mr. Golden, after he had discussed the case with the governor.

character of its population. The rapid growth of the industry in Lawrence has attracted thousands of immigrants from Southern Europe. There are more nationalities represented in the mill operatives in Lawrence than in any other of our manufacturing cities. "The cosmopolitan character of the operatives in Lawrence makes it difficult to organize. They are foreign to our institutions and unacquainted with the spirit of Massachusetts. Teaching them our methods is a slow process and their ignorance makes them susceptible to the influence of unwise leaders."

They are ready to follow leaders who are ignorant of the Massachusetts spirit as they are, and as a result men who do not appreciate conditions here gain ascendancy.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE

Finally, as the soldiers were marching along the road which runs parallel to the coast they were attacked by a series of onslaughts by a large force of Turks and Arabs. STRIKE SPREADS

English-Speaking Operatives Met To- day and Voted to Strike

LAWRENCE, Jan. 19.—The strike of 15,000 textile workers was augmented today with the accession of approximately 1400 English-speaking operatives. These comprise perchers, menders, burlers and speckers. It is believed this action will cripple several mills as these operatives are the last to handle the cloth before it goes to the shipping departments. "It was voted to make the same demands as those of the foreign employees who struck last week.

The meeting was held in Pythian hall, and it was estimated that more than half of the English-speaking operatives were in attendance. Numerous addresses were delivered, some urging that a strike be declared, and others declaring in favor of remaining neutral. A vote was finally taken, resulting in a declaration of strike. It was arranged to join the Industrial Workers of the World and preparations were made to appoint strike and organization committees.

The infliction of heavy sentences upon strikers found with concealed weapons was continued in the police court today when Judge Mahoney fined Ette Gulanni, a member of the strikers' executive committee, $100 and sentenced him to one year in jail. The charge against him was that of rioting and carrying a concealed weapon. Witnesses testified that the defendant was prominent in riots of Monday, that he fired several shots and that while doing picket duty this morning he flourished a revolver in the faces of operatives to intimidate them.

PICKETS ON DUTY INDUCED SOME OPERATIVES NOT TO RETURN TO WORK

LAWRENCE, Jan. 19.—The situation in the strike of 15,000 operatives which has been in force for a week seemed unchanged today. The mills opened today. About one-third of the usual number of operatives appeared at their places this morning, proportionately the same number that has been at work for the past two days.

Over 100 pickets stationed in the vicinity of the Arlington mills stopped the operatives on their way into work and endeavored to persuade them to join in the strike. The strikers were partly successful, it being estimated that about 200 operatives, 600 lack spoolers, and 100 menders, who have been working during the strike, heeding their wishes and remained out of the mills.

No attempts to prevent entrance of workers by violent methods were reported, although two women strikers engaged in a short scuffle in which no one was injured. The picketing in the mill district by strikers was kept up with increased vigor but everything passed off quietly at the hour of opening the mills. The presence of an extra large band of strikers at the corner of Cross street and Broadway members of Company K, Eleventh regiment, were hastily dispatched to the place but after patrolling for 15 minutes, it was seen that there was no sign of trouble and the militia returned to their regular stations. Although it was believed that the Lawrence mill could reopen today the operatives who appeared at the gates ready for work were informed that the mill would probably resume work next Monday. No reason was given for the forecast shutdown. At the wooden mills, the Ayer, Washington and Wood, today was pay day and a large number of operatives put in an appearance at all places. The saloons were reopened today after a shutdown of three days by order of Mayor Seaborn. It is believed, however, that they will close again tomorrow for three days, the opening being in compliance to law which prevents closing more than three days consecutively.

LOCAL MILITIA THE BOYS OF COMPANY C ARE ENJOYING THEMSELVES

One of the Lowell militiamen sends the following notes from the headquarters of the National guard stationed in Lawrence:
There is some system to Co. C, all the officers and non-commissioned officers have red caps and the men except the Gray squad wear white tunics.

Our little blonde lieutenant is still a favorite in militia circles. All the men envy Capt. Peterson this week-end.

Company C, quartered composed of Lieut. Patton, Sergeant Dolbert, Sergeant and Corp. Kent is on the job all the time.

The quarters of Co. C are in the office of the United States Western company, and every one is pleased with them. Hot and cold water is in supply and every comfort is given the men, the office force being particularly kind to the boys.

A private was court-martialed for unlawfully stealing potatoes from another fellow's mess kit. Private Maille was judge, while Private Noonan acted as district attorney, and although Private Mahan, who is an able "attorney," defended the accused, the latter was sentenced to eat 1500 of Cook's beans.

Priv. Tremblut was on guard Monday night. He claims it was so cold the thermometer registered "three hours below zero." When relieved he came in and stumbled over Q. M. S. T. Benoit who was sleeping at the rate of "forty miles an hour."

Cook Duty has shaved every day since he has been in Lawrence and his hair is in good order. The men of Co. C were surprised to find that they had eggs for breakfast yesterday morning, but they were feeling worse when they were told the eggs were not guaranteed.

STRIKE LEADER ISSUES APPEAL TO LABOR UN- IONS FOR MONEY

LAWRENCE, Jan. 19.—It was rumored this afternoon but not officially confirmed, that four companies of the Eighth regiment, under the command of Major Perry of Lynn will come to this city either tomorrow or Sunday. This, it was inferred, was to supply additional troops for duty on Saturday and Sunday, when it is feared the strikers and their sympathizers will be out in large numbers. Mayor Seaborn at a conference with Governor Fox yesterday was reported to have asked for additional troops for protection and relief. According to the rumors two companies will come from Lynn, one from Salem and the fourth from Haverhill. If it is found the first of next week that additional troops are not needed the Lawrence companies now on duty may be dismissed. There are eight companies of militia in this city at the present time doing duty. Strike leader Joseph J. Ettor today sent out an appeal to all labor unions in this section of the country asking that funds be sent to Lawrence to help the strikers in their fight. It reads in part:

"Financial aid is needed and needed quickly. We propose to establish a commissary for the needy and we ask for clothes, provisions and money. We're waging a battle that means much to us but we are equally fighting the battle of the wage workers throughout this state who have been affected as we have. If we can by our devotion and your support win, it will mean victory for all the workers of this state and all the workers in the wool and cotton industry."

AN ARREST MADE MEMBER OF STRIKERS' COMMIT- TEE HAD A LOADED REVOLVER

LAWRENCE, Jan. 19.—Precautions have been taken by the officials of the Arlington mill to protect their extensive property. Militiamen are continuing to guard the place.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

The following marriage intentions have been registered at the city clerk's office since the last week published:
Hervey Page, 39, cook, Yellow Head Lake, B. C., and Valeria M. V. Delorme, 17, table girl, Yellow Head Lake, B. C.
Viktor Torniszewski, 26, bus shop, Spring street and Valeria Obachow-ska, 23, operative, same address.
William J. Murra, 28, salesman, 150 Pleasant street, Holyoke, Mass., and Louella L. Ward, 28, teacher, 210 Fletcher street.

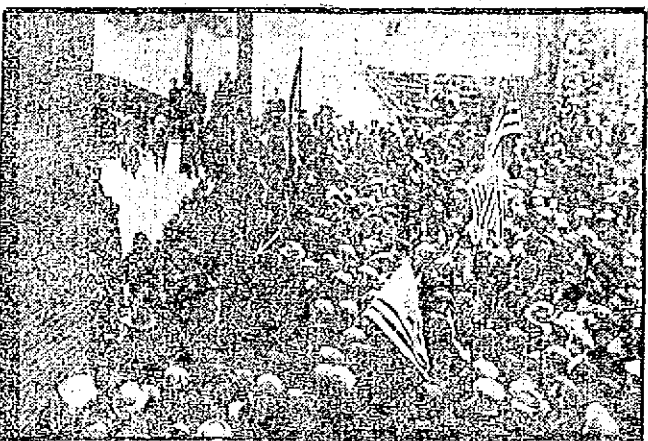

The water in the reservoir had dropped to 16 feet and 1 inch and today it contains 18 feet, 7 inches of water, due to the assistance of the Cook wells.

Commissioner Barrett in conversation with a reporter for The Sun, today said he hoped the new reservoir would be finished early in July. "The household wells are badly in need of a rest and thorough overhauling," he said, "and the old reservoir needs cleaning and repairing. Both of these matters can be attended to when the new reservoir has been built and the new wells installed at the reservoir."

"Do you think the water in the new wells will be as good as in the old wells?" queried the reporter.
"I should say the water would be better," replied Mr. Barrett.

"Why better?" asked the reporter.
"Well, to begin with," said Mr. Barrett, "a big percentage of the water that is pumped from the wells comes from the river. The water filters itself on its way through the sand from the river to the wells, a natural filtration, and this being the case it is fair to assume that distance would add to the perfection of this process. Now then, the old wells are on the river side of the boulevard and the new wells are on the opposite side. In order for the water from the river to reach the new wells it will have to travel twice as far and its way is a sandy way, so that the natural sand filtration is longer to the new than to the old wells. That is perhaps a practical rather than a scientific view of it, but I think that's the story in a nutshell. We are going to sink about 200 new wells and engineers from the state board of health who have looked the ground over have assured us that the new wells would produce an abundant supply of good water."

The Rolly Water
After the new wells have been installed and are set in motion the old wells will be cleaned and Mr. Barrett hopes that by giving them a good rest and thorough cleaning the rolly water nuisance that is an annual occurrence in the hot weather will be abated. He does not hold to the be-

State Aid Examination

The state aid examination begun in this city on Tuesday was completed yesterday. Over 300 recipients of state aid were examined by the state inspectors and only one change was made and that was a very small reduction in the case of a woman who had recently found employment. The inspectors said that great credit is due the superintendent of state aid and the assistant superintendent for their excellent management of the department and the correctness of their reports.

THE COOK WELLS

Commissioner Barrett Ordered Them Started

It may be that the water from the Cook wells has an effect upon lead pipe that is poisonous to the consumer, but be that as it may, for clearness, temperature and taste it is pretty hard to beat Cook well water, and if you don't believe it, ask the people in the Highlands and others living in the Cook well zone.

Commissioner Barrett, who has charge of the water department, ordered the Cook wells opened a few days ago because of the fact that the water in the reservoir had taken a rather sudden drop. It looked as if the old household wells were on their last legs and in order to assure the necessary supply of water Mr. Barrett ordered that the harness be put on the Cook wells and now all is lovely.

The water in the reservoir had dropped to 16 feet and 1 inch and today it contains 18 feet, 7 inches of water, due to the assistance of the Cook wells.

Commissioner Barrett in conversation with a reporter for The Sun, today said he hoped the new reservoir would be finished early in July. "The household wells are badly in need of a rest and thorough overhauling," he said, "and the old reservoir needs cleaning and repairing. Both of these matters can be attended to when the new reservoir has been built and the new wells installed at the reservoir."

"Do you think the water in the new wells will be as good as in the old wells?" queried the reporter.
"I should say the water would be better," replied Mr. Barrett.

"Why better?" asked the reporter.
"Well, to begin with," said Mr. Barrett, "a big percentage of the water that is pumped from the wells comes from the river. The water filters itself on its way through the sand from the river to the wells, a natural filtration, and this being the case it is fair to assume that distance would add to the perfection of this process. Now then, the old wells are on the river side of the boulevard and the new wells are on the opposite side. In order for the water from the river to reach the new wells it will have to travel twice as far and its way is a sandy way, so that the natural sand filtration is longer to the new than to the old wells. That is perhaps a practical rather than a scientific view of it, but I think that's the story in a nutshell. We are going to sink about 200 new wells and engineers from the state board of health who have looked the ground over have assured us that the new wells would produce an abundant supply of good water."

The Rolly Water
After the new wells have been installed and are set in motion the old wells will be cleaned and Mr. Barrett hopes that by giving them a good rest and thorough cleaning the rolly water nuisance that is an annual occurrence in the hot weather will be abated. He does not hold to the believe that the pipes are responsible for the bad water in the summer months. He said that old pipes were taken up in Pine street not long ago and were found to be perfectly clean and in first class condition; so good in fact that they have been re-used. The pipes were laid in Pine street several years ago and he thought that was a pretty good test. He does allow, however, that lead pipes so called, have a tendency to cause a disturbance in the pipes by backing and filling. Pipes that end abruptly in streets are known as dead ends and a fluctuation in pressure in these pipes, he believes, especially in the streets where the pipes end, causes the water to become rusty and practically unfit for use. He hopes to remedy this by extending the pipes and eliminating the dead ends.

Bids Called For
Commissioner Barrett has made requisition on the purchasing agent for about $3,000 pounds of steel for the reinforcement of the new concrete reservoir and several hundred dollars worth of valves. The steel will be bent and fitted by the water department. He has also sent out requests to the different cement firms for bids on the concrete work.

THE STATE POLICE

Investigating the Death of a Child Found in Dracut

The circumstances surrounding the death of the child who was found in the stone near the ruins of the Phineas Richardson house at what is known as the Four Corners in Dracut, the story of which was exclusively published in The Sun yesterday, have aroused the suspicions of Medical Examiner Melg and as result of the information which he gave out after performing an autopsy this morning, the state police are now working on the case and it is expected that one or more arrests may follow.

There are many things in connection with the case which lead the state authorities to believe that there was foul play.
Medical Examiner Melg when accompanied with refused to state anything other than that he had performed an autopsy. He was asked as to the cause of death and also the age of the child but he refused to give any answer.

It is the opinion that the child was killed and that the person who committed the act passed through the road in either a sleigh or a carriage or probably an automobile.

Cornelius P. Monahan and Ernest Mansur were out hunting yesterday and in the afternoon as they were passing through what is familiarly known as the Four Corners road, they saw a trail of blood. They followed the marks which led into the lane which was formerly occupied by Phineas Richardson, and found the body of a male child.

The young man walked to the city and notified Undertaker James W. McKenna who in turn notified the local police.
A representative of The Sun was apprised of the finding of the body and he and Mr. McKenna hurried to the place and he following the marks in the snow found the child.

The infant, which was naked, was lying near a stone. The right side of the head of the child was lacerated and blood had oozed from the right ear, and it was the opinion that the child had been dead but a short time when it was found.

From what was observed there was considerable evidence which would point towards foul play.

PETITION IS FILED

To Have Three Ass't. Tax Collectors

Constables McManus, Boyle and Emery have filed the following petition with the city clerk:
Lowell, Mass., January 19, 1912.
To James E. O'Donnell, Mayor, and Lawrence Cummings, Andrew Barrett, James E. Donnelly, and George H. Brown, aldermen, and members of the Municipal Council of the City of Lowell:
Gentlemen:
We, the undersigned, constables and assistant tax collectors, respectfully represent to you that the present system of collecting taxes and allowing a certain sum for costs, postage, etc., is imperfect and unsatisfactory, and that within our experience as collectors, we would recommend for your consideration the employment of three permanent constables as assistant tax collectors and the payment of each of them of a stipulated salary, namely, $300.00 per annum; that by this method a much more efficient system of collecting would obtain and far greater results financially would accrue to the city and that thereby the collection of taxes would be considerably expedited and relieved of much trouble and the vexations and delays that now prevail.

JAMES McDOWELL

Has Accepted Position in New Bedford

James McDowell, ex-water commissioner, has accepted an important position with the Sharp mills of New Bedford and will take office next Monday morning. Mr. McDowell was cotton sampler and picker boss at the Boot mills and he severed his connection with that concern a week ago. He was to go with a New York firm but the management of the Sharp mills secured him. His position there will be that of cotton sampler and he will have full charge of the department. The Sharp mills are operated on a scientific basis and employ experts in all of their departments.
Upon leaving the Boot mills Mr. McDowell was presented an all leather traveling bag and fountain pen by the operatives in his department. As a boss he was well liked, not because of any undue leniency, but because of the fact that he believed in fair and impartial treatment.

GRADE CROSSINGS

ENGINEER KEARNEY CONSULTS WITH B. & M. OFFICIALS

Now that the work of abolishing the School street crossing is nearing completion it is expected that the Boston & Maine will tackle the Middlesex street job next or as soon as it can get the plans prepared. This will be a very expensive and tedious job.
The most difficult part of the Middlesex street job will come in Western avenue and that will include the Fletcher street crossing. The matter of grade and the proper adjusting of it, the engineer says, will be the hardest part of the job and it has not yet been positively decided as to how far the grade will be affected in Dutton street, though Engineer Corthell, head engineer for the Boston & Maine, told City Engineer Kearney a year ago that it would be safe to smooth pave Dutton street as far as Broadway.
Just how the adjustment of the grade will affect matters at the Lowell Machine shop is another stickler. In order to so modify the grade as to admit of the shifting of cars it is thought, that it will be necessary to change the present entrance to the "Big Shop" from where it is at present to a point considerably nearer Market street. In order to go over Fletcher street the grade will have to be rather abrupt and the chances are that more powerful engines will have to be used for shifting purposes.
Engineer Kearney will go to Boston in a day or two to consult with the railroad's engineers relative to their plans in connection with the Middlesex street job, as that must be considered in connection with enough paving jobs.

THE PACKERS' TRIAL

Two Said to Have Received Beef Reports

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Two defendants in the trial of the packers were mentioned yesterday as having had personal knowledge of the test cost of beef from weekly reports mailed to them by a subordinate.

Walter A. Wall, formerly a branch house manager of Morris & Co. at St. Joseph, Mo., testified that in 1907 and 1908 he mailed to Edward Morris and Louis H. Heyman reports giving them the figures on the test cost of beef.

He said he mailed the reports to these officials at the Chicago office of Morris & Co. until January, 1909, when

Mr. McFarland, head of the dressed beef department, instructed him to stop sending the reports to Edward Morris. The witness said he sent two copies of the test cost of beef figures after that to Louis H. Heyman.

It was the first time since the beginning of the trial that the government has directly connected any of the defendants with the much-discussed test cost of beef, which the prosecution contends played such an important part in the alleged "meat" combination. Wall was questioned by United States Senator W. E. Kenyon, who appears in the case as one of the special counsel of the government.

Profits on Beef

Harry A. Timmins, chief accountant for Morris & Co., began his sixth day on the witness stand when court convened.

Timmins said Morris & Co. charged off 4 per cent. a year for depreciation in the preparation of its profit and loss statement. He said the prices for hides and also fluctuated at times so as to make a difference of 43 cents a hundred pounds in figuring the test cost of beef.

In January, 1910, hides sold for 17 1/2 cents a pound, while in March, 1910, the price dropped to 13 1/2 cents a pound he said. Also, he said, sold for 14 1/2 cents a pound in January, 1910, and in March 12 1/2 cents. The witness said that about 60 pounds of fat were obtained from each steer and that the weight of hides averaged 68 pounds.

Timmins mentioned the National Box company, Morris Packing company, Morris Beef company and the Morris Fertilizer company as subsidiary corporations of Morris & Co. He said the corporation also owned stock in Chamberlain & Co. of Boston and Meyer & Bush of Newark, N. J. Morris & Co. had no bonded indebtedness prior to 1909, he said.

Tracing the Books

John Hunter and Albert G. Hutchinson testified as to the disposal of books shown in the district attorney's list and since apparently destroyed. Hunter said he might have ordered their destruction in the regular course of business, but could not remember as to these particular volumes.

Walter A. Wall, for 15 years manager of branch houses at East St. Louis and St. Joseph, Mo., for Morris & Co. gave his present occupation as a clerk for the St. Louis Independent Packing company. The witness said he made daily and weekly reports to the Chicago office of shipments received and total sales.

It was at this point that the witness brought in the names of the defendants, Edward Morris and Louis H. Heyman, in connection with the disposal of test cost of beef statements.

STAGE BEAUTY TELLS SECRETS OF YOUTH

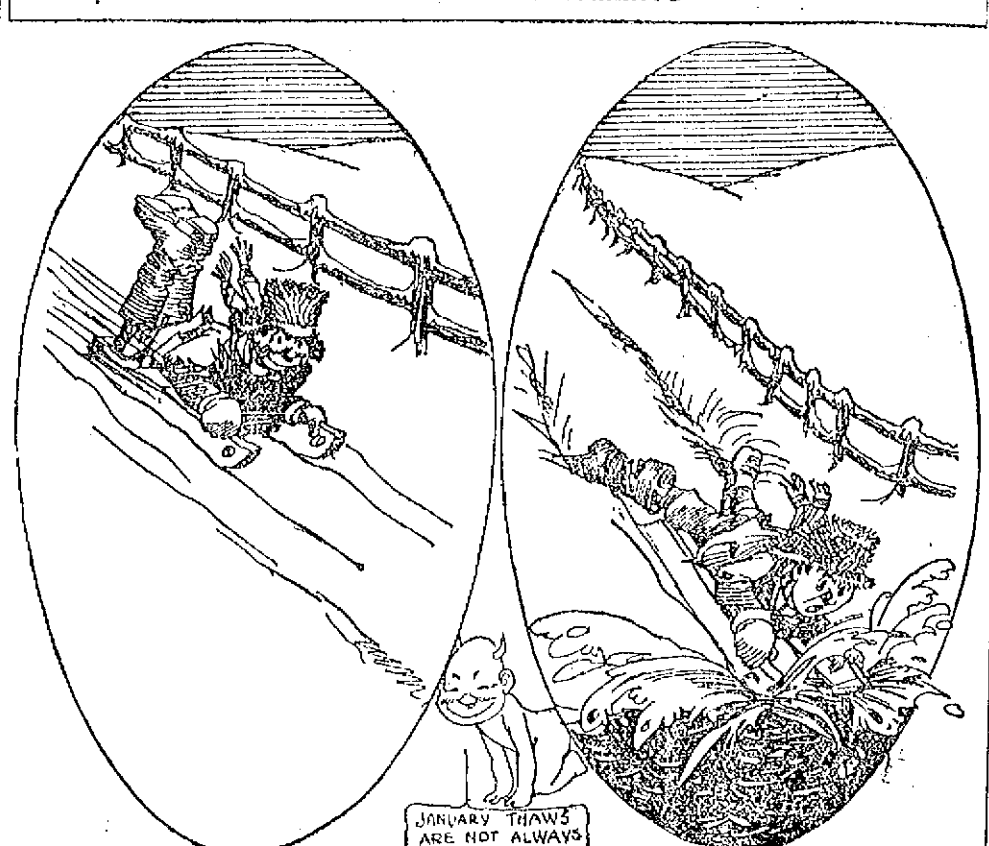

(Theatre Review in The Arch.)

"I have often wondered at Jane Clayton's youthful beauty. In a burst of confidence she told me her complexion was due to a lotion which she makes by dissolving a small original package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel. Massaging with this has kept her skin clear and satiny and preserves its girlish bloom.

"Her long, wavy and lustrous locks are due to dry shampooing. She says she never has time to wash her head and would not if she could, because wet shampoos make the hair dull and lifeless. A dry shampoo leaves the hair soft and fluffy. To make the dry shampoo, she puts a cupful of corn meal in a fruit jar and mixes with it the contents of a small original package of mayatone. It brushes out easily and takes all dirt with it.

"With a jar of Mother's Salve to cure sore throat and colds and prevent catarrh, this actress travels forty-eight weeks in the year, always looking the pink of perfection, and sings at every performance."

HOW NATURE CURES CONSTIPATION

And why drugs are being used less and less for that purpose.

The custom of internal bathing for keeping the intestines pure clean and free from poisonous matter, is a scientific method of curing constipation, hemorrhoids and the more serious diseases which they bring on. It has become so universally popular, and so scientifically correct in its application, as to merit the most serious consideration.

There are other methods which partly rid the system of the accumulated waste which breeds constipation, but which force Nature and are not by any means thorough as the results.

On the contrary, the scientifically constructed Internal Bath, gently assists Nature, but is much more thorough in its cleansing plan and drug, no matter what its nature, is not used. The J. B. L. Compound, which is now being used and praised by thousands, and prescribed by many eminent physicians, is now being shown and explained by the Klor-Jaynes Drug Store in Lowell.

Its action is so simple and natural as to immediately appeal to all common-sense. That is the reason for its great and deserved popularity. Ask for Booklet "Why Men of Today Is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient."

THEFT OF $60,000

Is Charged Against a
Boston Broker

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Benjamin H. Crain, aged 32, of New York, a member of the brokerage firm of Crain, Milliken & Co., which had offices at 59 Congress street, was arraigned before Judge Sanderson in superior court yesterday on an indictment accusing him of larceny. He was held in $15,000 bail and was committed in default.

His partner, Alfred A. Milliken, has been arrested in New York and it is understood he will waive requisition. They were indicted some time ago on charges of conspiracy to steal from customers and conducting a bucket shop. Both were held in $500 bail then. They furnished surety.

The new indictment, found by the grand jury this month, contains 30 counts. The principal loser is Alice E. Robinson of Winthrop. She lost more than $30,000. She deposited collateral in transactions with the firm and it is alleged the defendants converted it fraudulently to their own use.

Other customers who are alleged in the indictment to have lost securities and money are James H. Leary, Theodore M. Greenes, Herbert D. Day and Frank Leos. The loss of those persons exceeds $100,000.

No counsel appeared for Crain, but he said his attorneys were Anderson & Wiley.

Henry H. Bond counsel for Mrs. Robinson, caused the prosecution of the defendants. Asst. Dist. Attorney Webber has charge of the case.

THE LONGSHOREMEN

Are Holding Out for
Complete Victory

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—The longshoremen's strike involving more than 2,500 men who seek an increase in wages entered on its third week today and showed no signs of letting up. The strikers favor continuing the strike until a complete victory has been won and believe that the strike breakers will prove inefficient workers and that the steamship agents will soon ask their former employees to return to work. On the other hand it is said that the steamship officials are satisfied with the present workmen.

At all druggists. 25 doses, 25c. 50 doses, 50c. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Massachusetts State Branch, A. F. of L., and John H. Cordeau, representing the Heesters' Union of Lynn, were before the committee on judiciary yesterday afternoon on the bill introduced by Representative Cogswell to make a felony the practice of foremen and agents accepting bribes for obtaining jobs for workmen, principally of the "padrone" system, thus continuing the "padrone" system of Europe in Massachusetts.

Mr. Cogswell's bill increases the penalty from a minimum of $10 under the existing law to $25, with a maximum fine of $500, with the alternative of imprisonment not exceeding three years in state prison.

He cited numerous instances of Armenians in Lynn who were paying $10 to foremen for two weeks and who if they worked two weeks more had to pay $10 more.

He said what he wanted was to get this class of cases into the district attorney's office so that the burden of prosecution shall be on the state.

Arthur Huddell said that he had the same experience in the construction work. It is one of the hardest things the labor unions have to fight to get these foremen prosecuted.

John Weaver Sherman said that this matter was before the convention of the Massachusetts State Branch, A. F. of L., last September and it was voted that it was a matter on which legislation should be pressed. It was first incumbent that the law should be made mandatory on the district attorney to prosecute the cases, the penalty should be made large enough and severe enough that the law wouldn't be a joke, and, third, that if the labor department should be created, as he hoped, although he was not confident about it, then that department should continue the enforcement of the law.

It was suggested by the committee that there be inserted in the bill upon investigation and complaint, the district attorney shall proceed to prosecute the parties complained of and that the penalty be fine or imprisonment or both. The hearing closed.

Wholesale Slaughter

Ordinarily I don't look for a heavy business in January, but Today and Saturday I am going to try to beat the dutiness by a slashing cut in prices.

Every Yard of Goods Marked Down

RAIN OR SHINE, GET IN AND SEE THEM

I love good woollens—I love to handle them—I love to buy them—I love to sell them—I love most of all to sell them low—to put within the reach of the multitude qualities intended only for the few.

But I have no reverence for value—value with me being but a conditional or relative term.

A snowball in the Sahara might buy a camel from the parched Arab. A palm date in the Arctic on the other hand might buy a glacier from the sweet-toothed Esquimaux.

As you frolic and picnic this summer among the delightful hills of New England, winter suits and overcoats will have less interest than straw hats. Just now, however, winter garments might prevent pneumonia.

I must, therefore, make you buy now. I can't frame woollens to keep and look at just because the value and quality are better than I should give for the price you are willing to pay. I have to sell them regardless of value.

Remember you don't have to buy when you pay me a visit, unless the striking values I offer you compel you to do so.

CHARLES W. MORSE
MAY BE TAKEN TO A GERMAN
RESORT

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 19.—Arrangements for moving Charles W. Morse, the New York banker whose 16 years sentence was commuted last evening by the president, to a sanitarium were held up today pending the arrival of Mrs. Morse from Washington. She left for Atlanta at 5 o'clock this morning. Morse is occupying his room at the army hospital now as a "guest" of the government. His freedom having been given him yesterday by Warden Meyer of the federal penitentiary upon telegraphic advices from Washington. It is said he will go to a local hospital and later to New York, where he will prepare to visit one of the German resorts if his condition permits.

While the former prisoner was greatly brightened this morning at the news of commutation the military physicians would permit few persons to see him.

BOY WAS KILLED
WAS THROWN ON HIS HEAD
WHILE COASTING

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Thomas O'Hare, 10 years old, of 613 Amsterdam avenue, received mortal injuries yesterday afternoon while coasting in Riverside park at Ninetieth street. When half-way down the hill he slipped his sled into another sled and heaved over to the curb. When his sled hit the curb he was thrown and landed on his head, his forehead striking the stone. The other boys started to run to him, but when they saw him unconscious they became frightened and ran away. The boy remained lying in the snow for ten minutes when a chauffeur speeding along the drive saw him. He called Policeman Flood to the West 100th street station and the two of them bundled the boy into the automobile and rushed with him to the Red Cross hospital, 100th street and Central Park West, where he died last night.

WE CELEBRATE TOMORROW

Our Second Anniversary

IN LOWELL

We take extreme pleasure in being able to tell you that our store in this city has met with more than ordinary success. The business we have built up with your aid in this short space of time is truly remarkable.

Isn't this fact convincing proof that the Riker-Jaynes Drug Store is an unusual store? Our store is not in the most prominent location in the city. Two years is surely not a long time for a business to develop in.

Don't you admit that our service must be better, our prices lower, our goods more reliable?

If you are not a Riker-Jaynes customer, it is because you have not given us an opportunity to serve you.

We have tried hard to make this occasion a memorable one, and the offers are really exceptional values. This sale will be in effect Tomorrow and Monday and Tuesday of next week.

We reserve the right to limit quantities.

A NOTABLE TRIBUTE

Services of Judge Hadley Highly Praised on His Retirement

Judge Samuel Ross Hadley, of the police court, has performed his last judicial act so far as the exercising of the authority of a police court judge is concerned, for with the consent of the council he has retired and will spend the remainder of his days with his family.

This morning over fifty lawyers and an equal number of members of the police department were in police court to bid him adieu.

relieved of my duties in order that I may enjoy my remaining years with my family, but at the same time I do not like to part with my friends but even though I have resigned I will meet you gentlemen often and will also frequent this court room.

"I would have been here 35 years next August, the time that I became clerk of the police court. At that time the judge appointed his own clerk. I was a young man. Even though I do say so when I entered the court I changed the whole character of the methods and these methods are in vogue at the present time.

Judge Hadley then became re-elected, and after telling about his installation as clerk in 1877, gave a brief history of the court, mentioning the fact that the building had been burned, the removing of the court to the opposite side of the street and the transfer after the place had been rebuilt.

Continuing Judge Hadley said: "It was in 1875 that we came into this room and we have remained here up to the present time. When I first started in this court there were many members of the bar but at the present time there are no lawyers who practiced there who are living. George W. Bidder, my venerable friend, has passed away." His honor then referred to various lawyers whom he had met during his many years in court and also those who appeared before him when he was the clerk of the court. He paid a special tribute to those who have gone to the great beyond, and referred to them in the kindest manner possible. He also spoke of the members of the bar of the present time and thanked them for their presence on the occasion of his retirement.

Judge Hadley then spoke about the time of his appointment as judge and said that at about the same time Jacob C. Fayer was occupying the office of city marshal.

Referring to the exercise of his duties in court the judge said: "I may have made mistakes, but I have always tried to do what was right."

He then spoke of the high efficiency of the members of the bar of this city, the police department, and also congratulated the press on the honest efforts they had made to report the trials correctly.

In speaking of his experiences, His Honor said that his office door was always open in order that the people might confer with him. During the years he was in office he heard the stories of thousands of persons and gave his advice. He said that he learned to do good.

"I am old and another man should take my place," said Judge Hadley. "I want to devote myself and time to my home and family. I wish at this time, on the occasion of my retirement, to express myself to the members of the bar, the members of the police department and the press for their kindness."

"At the present time I am 51 years of age and believe that it is time for me to retire. I will welcome my successor but I will ever keep in touch with this court. Gentlemen, I bid you farewell."

Tribute From the Bar

There was loud applause at the conclusion of the speech by Judge Hadley and after the outburst of enthusiasm had subsided William H. Bent, the dean of the legal profession in Lowell, arose and said: "May I please Your Honor, I arise to say a few words and pay my respects to Your Honor on your retirement. An occasion like this should not pass without being honored.

"In 1880 I was admitted to the bar. At that time you were 12 years in the service as clerk of the police court. Not a single man is practicing law in Lowell at the present time who was practicing then."

Lawyer Bent then recalled old firms which were in Lowell and spoke of the illustrious members of the bar in those and the present days. He said that in the good old days men of culture and classic knowledge graced the local bar and paid a very complimentary tribute to the late Gov. Greenhalge.

In referring to cases which he had tried before Judge Hadley he said that after due consideration he always found that the decisions of the court were satisfactory. He then became rather facetious and added in conclusion: "Both as a clerk and as judge it has been a great pleasure and great satisfaction to me to be with Your Honor. I say that personally and know that to be the sentiment of the other members of the bar."

Supt. Welch Speaks
Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department tendered his regrets upon the retirement of the judge and on behalf of the police department spoke in a complimentary manner of the justice exercised by the court during the time that he was a practicing officer. In conclusion he said that he hoped that the judge would enjoy a well earned rest and wished him happiness and contentment until the end.

Lawyer John J. Hogan spoke of his regret upon the retirement of the judge because he felt that the court was losing a kind parent who had acted in that capacity for 30 years. He said that Judge Hadley was tender to all and then referred to the manner in which he had disposed of cases during his incumbency.

James H. Carmichael said he had been a member of the profession for the past 32 years and when he started to practice law the judge was clerk of the court. He grew reminiscent, after which he spoke of the universal kindness and courtesy of Judge Hadley and referred to him as the people's judge. He also spoke of the juvenile court, which was inaugurated by Judge Hadley and the system of probation at the present time. In conclusion he said that the judge was a kind and affectionate father to the children who appeared in court and that that part of his life should be rewarded.

Judge Pickman
Associate Judge John J. Pickman spoke in a very complimentary manner of Judge Hadley and after dwelling on his judgment in disposing of cases also spoke of his great learning and his writings, his love for poetry and of the history he has written.

Judge Pickman said that Judge Hadley never secluded himself, but interested himself in everything, and was the foremost man in Lowell when it came to civic reform.

The next speaker was Francis W. Qua and he told of Judge Hadley's long and faithful service and trusted that he would enjoy peace and happiness in his retirement which he richly deserves. He expressed his regret at the retirement of the judge but wished him a long, happy and useful life.

Frederick P. Marble addressed the judge and members of the bar and expressed his warm and sincere regard for His Honor.

James Stuart Murphy regretted the retirement of the judge and said that cases tried before Judge Hadley in the local court were tried in a manner just as thorough as in the superior court. In conclusion he said that he felt that the retirement of the judge was a big loss to the community.

Daniel J. Donahue said that he had to bid his honor good bye. He had tried many cases before Judge Hadley and although there were adverse decisions rendered he felt that the court dealt with the different cases in a conscientious manner. He said that he had never seen a worthy litigant going out of court without having received justice. In conclusion Mr. Donahue said: "The public loses the greatest friend that they have in the retirement of Judge Hadley."

Solon W. Stevens spoke of Judge Hadley as being an honest, earnest and sensible man. He expressed his deepest and heartfelt sympathy upon the retirement of His Honor.

Dennis J. Murphy spoke of his appreciation of the manner in which the judge had used him and also the way he administered justice.

John H. Parley spoke of the high dignity of the court under the guidance of Judge Hadley and J. Joseph O'Connor referred to the kind and courteous treatment that he and other members of the bar had received.

At the conclusion of the speechmaking all present sang "Auld Lang Syne."

NARROW ESCAPE

BLIND MAN UNAIDED ATTEMPTED TO CROSS STREET

A rather pathetic sight was witnessed at the corner of Market and Central streets this morning. A man who was afflicted with the loss of his sight was standing at the crosswalk waiting to get by. The traffic at this point was very heavy and the going was in poor condition. The man was about to cross over just as an electric car and several heavy sleighs were passing. A number of men were looking at the unfortunate man, but it remained for Daniel E. Hogan to go to his assistance. The latter took the man by the arm and escorted him to safety on the other side. The blind man thanked Mr. Hogan for his kindness and continued on his journey up the street.

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if it cures. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them what a good medicine I have. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stone, chronic rheumatism, for burning kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone else after that. I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely a fair offer for which this medicine is intended. I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms on the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about follows: "Dear Dr. T. Frank Lynott, symptoms number"—here put down the numbers, your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 809 Occidental Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause for the cure of medicine I send you will be fully repaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering from the symptoms the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that. I am promising to send any medicine I write me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

DR. T. FRANK LYNOTT who is giving away $10,000 worth of medicine.

I can say further that this medicine has been vouched for according to live as complying in every detail with all requirements. It will stop rheumatism, it will stop pain and backache, it will stop too frequent desire to urinate; it will heal, soothe and strengthen. You will be better in every way for having taken it. There is not an ingredient that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself so that you may be personally convinced.

Owing to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is new and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder and rheumatic diseases. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.

If you need medicine such as I have, if you are anxious to be cured and don't want to spend any money LOOKING for cures, write me. Read the symptoms over and let me hear from you today.

These Are the Symptoms:

- 1—Pain in the back.
- 2—Too frequent desire to urinate.
- 3—Burning or obstruction of urine.
- 4—Pain or soreness in the bladder.

Says That Conditions in Lawrence May Become Worse

The assistant city clerk was looking out of a window on the second floor of the city hall and he was in a position to see all that was going on. He saw the crowd surging toward the officers at or near the door and pressing in a great silence in a formidable band. The men were carrying what looked to be a revolver from inside to an outside pocket of his coat. The assistant city clerk lost no time in getting to the soldiers when they reached them the man had disclosed the steel was in the belt line. The clerk pointed him out and the man was arrested. It was a very short time before the soldiers had seen him handling and that they intended to use it there was little doubt. When the soldiers put the man under arrest the crowd rushed to the soldiers and trouble was

The November Did Not Take

The Governor Did Not Take Usual Walk This Morning

BOSTON, Jan. 15.—The guard for Fox Boston, began two days ago as the result of rumors of Black Hand movements in his direction was maintained last night and today. The governor's house in Jamaica Plain was under the watchful eyes of two state policemen and three Boston police officers. The governor omitted his usual four-mile walk to the state house today and came in town in his automobile which carried an officer on the front seat. Two members of the state police were placed on duty in the executive chambers as soon as the governor had arrived. The state guard against Black Hand work has been extended also to the home in Everett of Colonel Sweetzer of the Sixth regiment, in command of the provisional regiment on duty at Lawrence. Others were supposed that foreign hit-struggles against methods in handling labor troubles had turned in Colonel Sweetser's direction and his beautiful residence in Everett was guarded all night, while two officers were on duty today.

It was stated at the state house today that earnings of an attempt on the life of Governor Foss came to a state house on Wednesday from reliable sources and several other persons called up with similar rumors. The first indication of the kind was given by a certain business man's acquaintance in New York. Twenty minutes after a Lawrence mill agent called with a similar statement. Then followed the same report from a mercantile house in Boston, and lastly a friend of Private Secretary Holman in the Italian quarter in the North

There will be a hearing at the state house, room 441, on Friday, January 30, 11 A. M. on the petition of John Jacob Rogers for better provision for instruction in domestic arts at the industrial school.

Next Wednesday at 10.30, room 441, there will be a hearing on the question of erecting a statue to General Butler.

MR. I. L. SHOWEM RUINS A CAKE OF SOAP

PROFESSOR WYMAN

Explains Foss Plan for Public Service Commission Bill

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 19.—At the dinner of the Economic club of Springfield last evening, Professor Bruce Wyman of the Harvard Law school, created a sensation by disclosing toward the conclusion of his speech, the general plan of the public service commission bill which Governor Foss intends to have introduced into the legislature as soon as the draft is completed. From the details disclosed by Professor Wyman, it appears that Governor Foss is framing a progressive measure without overlooking the cherished policy of Massachusetts. As Professor Wyman was speaking to a certain extent by authority of Governor Foss, his statement of the details of this progressive measure was closely followed. What Professor Wyman said, in part, was this:

"What is being planned is, first of all, a consolidation of the different commissions which now exercise a divided supervision over the public service companies in Massachusetts. In this consolidation the board of railroad commissioners and the board of gas and electric light commissions will disappear as independent entities. And the special powers of regulation which the highway commission and the board of health now accidentally exercise will be taken away from them. It is proposed to organize in their place a public service commission of five members, on the basis of five year terms, so that each incoming governor fresh from the people shall have the appointment of a commissioner at his disposal. It is assumed, however, that these commissioners will be men of such ability that there would seldom be any doubt of their reappointment; and in order to make it certain that men of the highest grade could be got, it is thought wise to provide for the payment of liberal salaries to these commissioners. You would be interested, I do not doubt, in having further details as to the organization that is being planned. I might add, therefore, that the bill being drafted provides for certain other officials next in point of rank, all responsible to the commissioners directly.

"The idea as to the course of administration is that matters of fundamental importance shall be disposed of by the commissioners as a board directly, such as certificates of expediency and issues of additional securities. But it is assumed that matters of routine shall be handled first of all in the subordinate bureau, such as inspection and reports. On some such basis as this it is believed that the advantages of centralized administration and those of specialized action may both be obtained in a high degree. By this plan the work of the commission itself is so broad that it will have the opportunity to develop large policies, and yet it will not be put out of touch with the course of the administration itself.

Extent of Regulation Planned

"Thus far, the bill is only an administrative reform which I trust people will feel unquestionably makes for a higher degree of effectiveness in doing what we are already doing; and to get this higher efficiency is the primary purpose of the governor, I imagine. At the same time, in such a consolidation it is inevitable that there should be an increase in certain directions in the powers which such a public service commission should exercise. Of course in a consolidation like this, the various powers of the existing commissions would be brought up to the highest standard which has been established in Massachusetts in the case of any public service; and fortunately by so doing one gets about as much regulation as the situation requires.

It is proposed, for example, to have the companies file their schedules, to give the commission the power of inspection, to give the commission power to order the reduction of particular rates, to subject the facilities provided by the companies to the general jurisdiction. There is nothing new or strange about this; some commission in Massachusetts is doing every one of these things to some public service company today.

"In the drafting of this act, the idea has been constantly in mind to follow out the existing Massachusetts practices, although every public service act in the United States has been compared with the Massachusetts statutes. There will be no feature in what is being proposed that any one can fairly call revolutionary. It may properly be claimed that everything in the bill will be truly an evolution from what already exists in Massachusetts. The draft is based upon the Massachusetts idea of proper regulation with due regard for the best interests of all concerned. We believe in Massachusetts in dealing fairly with all interests, even with public service corporations. But we believe also in Massachusetts in the inherent right of the state to regulate public service companies in everything vital to the rendering of an adequate public service. We have every desire in Massachusetts to work out a system of regulation and control which will not merely enforce the duties but will also respect the rights of the public services. And we even entertain the hope that our commission system, however far it may be developed, may be regarded by all affected as the means by which the state co-operates with the managers of the public services."

REPORTS READ

AT MEETING OF TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL

Forty delegates representing 10 unions were present at a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council held at 22 Middle street, last night. Reports were heard from different committees and the meeting was a very encouraging one.

The Typographical union reported that the beginning of January 1, the old pension was increased from $4 to $5 per week, and commencing April 1 the death benefit will be as follows: For a continuous membership of one year or less, $75; two years, $125; three years, $175; four years, $225; five years or more, $400. Apart from the foregoing the union supports a home for disabled members, and all the Typographical union asks in return is that union men see to it that the society they belong to support the union label.

The Cotton Weavers' union reported that the strike was still on in the carpet works of Rilton, New York. The Bakers' union reported that their committee had received good encouragement from the proprietors as far as the recognition of their union, a minimum wage and stipulated hours of labor. They also requested that the matter be referred back to the different locals. The council voted to grant the request.

Charles Morris, agent for the United Hatters of North America, gave a talk upon the aims and objects of the true trade unionists.

A communication from the state branch A. P. of L. in relation to an out of town bread that is being sold here, was read and referred to the label committee.

DOG WAS KILLED

AFTER HE HAD BITTEN SEVEN PERSONS

HAVERHILL, Jan. 19.—Terrifying the employees in two big shoe factories, a dog ran amuck yesterday afternoon, biting seven persons before he was clubbed to death by a policeman and finally shot. The dog was a handsome female bull, and it is thought that it was not mad, as there were no indications of the rabies. The head has been sent to the cattle bureau and all of the bites have been cauterized, so that there is no danger.

The animal first put in an appearance at the J. H. Winchell factory on Locust street. The men in the finishing room played with the dog, which turned and bit three of them, then, wheeling, raced out. The dog then went to the stitching room of the George B. Leavitt factory, where the girls played with her, and she ate candy out of their hands. Walking into the cutting room, the dog flew for the throat of four people, biting them in the face. They were Ernest Spinnery, George Handley and W. H. Rogers, operatives, and Francis Scates, a justice of the peace.

Other employees rushed to the scene and clubbed the dog into submission. Station Officer Sterne, hurriedly summoned, ended the dog's career with a bullet.

BOSTON ARTIST

GAVE LECTURE IN LOWELL ART ASSOCIATION COURSE

Mr. Joseph Linden Smith, the Boston artist, gave the first lecture in the Lowell Art Association course at Concord last night. His subject was "A Great Hindu Festival the Madura," and the talk was illustrated by pictures taken by himself. Madura is one of the sacred cities in Southern India and its temples and buildings are magnificent. Mr. Smith was there when 60,000 pilgrims gathered there to purify themselves in the sacred tanks and listen to the tinkling bells of the sacred elephants, and he took a great many photographs. His lecture was most enjoyable and was probably of greater interest because of the fact that the country he told about was entirely new to his hearers.

$49,600 VERDICT

In Favor of the Smelting Company

FALL RIVER, Jan. 19.—One of the biggest verdicts ever returned in the local superior court was that of last night when the jury in the case of the Cornish Andrews Smelting company, petitioners vs. the Boston & Providence Railroad company, found for the plaintiff in the sum of $49,600.

It was contended by the plaintiff that the railroad company through working a grade crossing took such portion of the land of the smelting company's plant at Attleboro that the latter had no right of way and a suit for $50,000 was brought.

SMOOTH PAVING

PLANS NOT FORMULATED FOR PRESENT YEAR WORK

At the meeting of the municipal council yesterday afternoon, Commissioner Cummings asked Commissioner Brown if any plans had been formulated for the smooth paving of streets during the present year.

Commissioner Brown informed him that little had been done in this direction as yet, but that undoubtedly, Gorham st. paving would be continued principally because of the increased need of a better street surface, in view of the building of the big car shops out Billerica way. He also said that Bridge street had been considered, and that others would receive attention. Commissioner Cummings asked permission to award three contracts for work which must be done immediately in the buildings department, and the council voted him the authority. The contracts involved repairs to the city hall, the Greenhalse school and the Tenth street school. The lowest bidders in each case were subsequently awarded the contracts, and they were: E. T. Shaw company, Scott & O'Day and the Barker Manufacturing company. The bids were as follows:

City hall—change sink on first floor, and install same on top floor. Change stand pipe as directed. Run all water and waste pipes, connecting sink with present lines. Farrell and Conaton, $34; Welch Brothers, $50; Gaffney &

Kerwin, $59; Scott & O'Day, $68; H. T. Barker Co., $117; E. T. Shaw Co., $41.

Greenhalse school—Remove old sections of radiation and make the necessary substitutions, with valves, connections, etc. Insulars & Bourret, $135; Welch Brothers, $141; Gaffney & Kerwin, $149; E. T. Shaw Co., $110; Scott & O'Day, $125; John Carter & Co., $149; Farrell & Conaton, $145; Barker Co., $153.

Tenth street school—Install two radiators and make necessary connections: Barker company, $58; Welch Brothers, $70; Gaffney & Kerwin, $63; Farrell & Conaton, $64; E. T. Shaw Co., $79; Scott & O'Day Co., $57.

A LARGE GATHERING SURELY BREAKS UP A BAD COLD

Listened to Address on "Scientific Management" by F. W. Taylor

Mathew hall was crowded to its doors last night, the occasion being the annual luncheon of the board of trade, and an interesting lecture by Fred K. Winslow Taylor of Philadelphia, who spoke on "Scientific Management" as applied to manufactures. The attendance numbered nearly 400 and the meeting was presided over by President Harvey B. Greene of the board of trade.

The members of the association gathered at the hall at 6 o'clock and

HARVEY B. GREENE,
President of Board of Trade.

When the luncheon was presented to Mr. Taylor. Then they sat around the five board and heard of a dainty luncheon served by the D. L. Case Co. At the conclusion of the luncheon the doors were thrown wide open for the outsiders and a large number of them gathered in the gallery. President Greene called to order at 7:30 o'clock and welcomed the guests in behalf of the board of trade. In his opening address Mr. Greene called the assembly's attention to the fact that although

"Stains? They're Easily Taken Out," says Anty Drudge.

Mrs. Fidget—"Do you know, Anty, I am getting to be a regular crank. I watch every egg-mark or stain that the children make on the napkins and table cloth, and I get so nervous I can't enjoy my meals."

Anty Drudge—"Don't mind the stains and above all don't get nervous. Just rub Fels-Naptha soap on the spots, soak in cool or lukewarm water and rub lightly, and your napkins and table-cloths will be spotless."

The housewife is quite likely to be judged by the appearance of the wash as it hangs on the line. It is the one part of the housework that is all out of doors; all in the eye of your neighbors.

"How nice that wash looks!" is a coveted washday saying. If you knew—it was either Fels-Naptha soap or too much work that gave the nice look. Drudgery may give it; Fels-Naptha soap will give it without drudgery.

Fels-Naptha makes the clothes clean and pure, because it DISSOLVES every particle of dirt.

You first soap the clothes, roll and place them in cool or lukewarm water for half an hour. You then find that only light rubbing is needed to make them pure as driven snow.

And it's as good for every other part of the household work as for the wash. A trial will convince you. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

Relieves Severe Grippe Misery in a Few Hours

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pope's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken will cure Grippe or break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or lungs.

You distinctly feel the cold breaking and all the disagreeable gripe symptoms leaving after the very first dose. It promptly ends the most miserable headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pope's Cold Compound in the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pope's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

crease in the output, instead of throwing men out of work, makes work for more men in that trade.

Take the cotton industry. Between the years of 1825 and 1845, the old hand loom was superseded by the power loom. About 1840 when the weavers of Manchester, England, became convinced that the power loom had come to stay, they were positive that instead of there being work for 5000 weavers there would be work for only 1500. Under the circumstances you can hardly blame them for what they did. They smashed and burned the power looms. But the power loom came just the same; and in Manchester the average power loom is turning out about eight to ten times the output that was turned out by the hand loom, and instead of 5000 operatives there are 25,000. For every yard of cloth that came out there are now between 800 and 100 yards.

"It means merely that all you have to do is to bring wealth into the world, and the world uses it. Means that where cotton goods in 1840 were a luxury, to be used only by the rich, now every man, woman and child throughout the civilized world has cotton goods as an absolute daily necessity. This is the meaning of increased efficiency."

Wealth of World

The wealth of this world comes from two sources—what comes from the earth and what man produces; and any set of men—workmen on the one hand or manufacturers on the other—who adopt a restriction of output as a permanent policy, are robbing their own kind of what daily belongs to them. I am not saying it is not necessary to restrict the output sometimes; but there is no excuse for adopting restriction for a permanent policy, either to hold up prices or to make work for more workmen.

For the second cause why workmen go slow, we are entirely to blame. The workmen have nothing to do with it. If we are making any article of manufacture, say a pen for instance, let us assume that the workman is making 10 of them in a day, and working by the piece, he makes $2.50 a day. The foreman suggests that he make them for 25 cents apiece, and the workman is glad to do it. In the course of a year or so, through his own ingenuity and the help of his foreman, he finds himself turning out 20 pens a day instead of 10, and he is very well satisfied, getting $5 a day instead of $2.50. But right here comes the board of directors. They discover that many of the workmen are earning five dollars a day, where the ruling wage is $2.50 a day. This will never do in the world. We are ruining the labor market. So the foreman, acting under instruction, cuts the price so that the workman can earn only $2.50.

"Now, gentlemen, I have heard particularly in the last year or two, a great deal of talk about the degeneracy of the workmen of this country. Personally, I do not share that view in the least. I believe that the working people of this country on the whole are as kind a group of men as any other group of men in this country. But whatever they may be, they are not fools; and it takes only one experienced like that, to make workmen 'soldier' for the rest of their lives; to make them establish as a firm set principle, that they will do as little work as they can, instead of as much. That is practically what is going on throughout the industrial world."

"What has scientific management done? In the average establishment into which it has been introduced it has doubled the output per man. The doubling of the output has very materially diminished the cost of manufacture, and has increased the value of the product. On the one hand, and in most cases has somewhat diminished the selling price of the product. The manufacturer has profited through increased efficiency, and the consumer has profited through reduction in price of the goods. But the workmen have gained more than that. The manufacturer or the public 'they' have paid from 25 to 100 per cent. higher wages than are received by the men in competitive business right around them."

"Yet this is not the greatest gain that has come to the workman. It has come from the fact that under scientific management they have come to look upon their employers as friends instead of enemies. In 50 years, during which scientific management has been gradually coming into use, until last summer there never has been a strike in any establishment working under scientific management; and last summer there was no reason for one. It occurred because of the foolishness of the managers, and lasted only four days."

A Mental Revolution

"In its essence, scientific management involves a complete mental revolution on the part of the workmen as to their duties toward their own work and toward their employers, and a complete and equally great mental revolution on the part of the managers as to their own duties and the duties they owe to their employers. Without this complete mental revolution scientific management does not exist. It is for this reason that in the most elementary establishment it takes from two to five years to introduce it."

"The only hope of obtaining the initiative of the men, is to deliberately set out to give them something more than other people give them. Even if you do that, the response will be very

Any legislator who opposes the $50,000,000 plan of developing Boston Harbor will have his name put to the charge of shortsightedness.

Out at Chicago they say the price of butter is bounding upward after that of eggs and potatoes. If the packers cannot add to the price of meat they may make something out of butter as a side line.

Mayor O'Donnell of Worcester has appointed an investigator to look into the conditions existing in the municipal departments and it is expected as a result that some high official will get the drop.

The labor men who are after Horton Hilton's political scalp seem to have the law on their side. It was thought that Horton's offense was quite forgotten but these labor leaders have long memories in the matter of political records on labor measures.

When the man carrying the American flag in the parade of the Lawrence strikers was stopped in his progress by the soldiers' bayonets he dragged the flag in the snow. A standard bearer in front of a bayonet charge may have to bend his knees to save his life.

Boston folks are looking over the nose of milk wagons during the night. These wagons may have to equip with rubber tires and painted milk cans. The milkmen may give as much of a racket in Lowell as in Boston but we sleep soundly here and don't hear them. That is one of the advantages of having a near conscience.

The Manchus dynasty in China is selling its treasures preparatory to abdicating under pressure. The revolutionists seem to be quite moderate in their demands since they permit such deliberate methods of retirement. The Manchus, however, are said to be in financial straits and if they need more money to help them make an effective clearance so much the better.

WARNING TO CUBA

The state department at Washington has notified Cuba that unless the Veterans of the Cuban War of Independence cease to persecute those who are accused of having sympathized with Spain, the United States will have to intervene to enforce the provisions of the Cuban constitution. Our government is bound by law to protect Cuba against any movement calculated to overthrow the constitution or the republic.

The Veterans have started a movement to deprive the Spanish sympathizers of their political rights, something which being a direct violation of the constitution calls for intervention of the United States unless promptly stopped.

THE LAWRENCE STRIKE

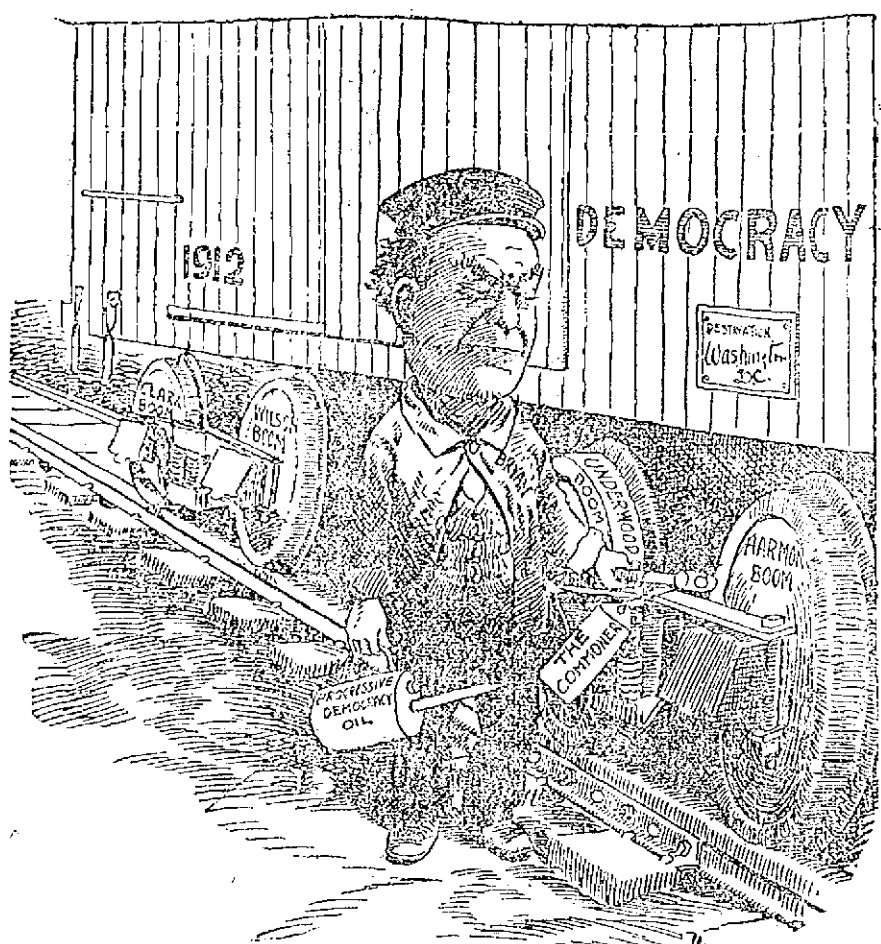

There is very little doubt as to the causes that led to the Lawrence strike. The rate of wages in Lawrence was very low before the 54-hour law took effect, but the resulting reduction was more than the operatives could bear. The strike has been a very deplorable affair on account of the ill feeling that has been engendered between the authorities and the strikers. The New York leaders have apparently fomented the trouble instead of bringing about peace. The reputation which the city has received as a result of this strike will stick to it for a considerable time. It will injure the future growth of the city by deterring new industries from locating there. The whole occurrence is most unfortunate for Lawrence.

WATTERSON CRITICIZES GOVERNOR WILSON

Col. Watterson says Governor Wilson is more of a school master than a statesman. He is certainly a school master and a good one and judging from his career since he became governor of New Jersey he appears also to be a state-man of the first rank. But in an interview sought by Henry Watterson and Col. Harvey of Harper's weekly, the governor was so strained in his manner and so lacking in cordiality that Col. Harvey took offense and hence the unfortunate split. Up to that time Harper's Weekly had been the chief promoter of the Wilson boom and in reply to a direct question by Col. Harvey, the governor told that gentleman that Harper's booming had hindered rather than helped him. That was certainly a severe rebuke and it staggered not only Col. Harvey but Editor Watterson. That explains why Watterson is now criticizing Governor Wilson and why Harper's is no longer booming the latter's candidacy. Why did Wilson object to the booming freely given him by Col. Harvey in Harper's? Because that weekly is regarded as the organ of conservatism and that is not Governor Wilson's forte in this campaign.

NEW YORK FIRES

New York is having a very trying experience in disastrous fires of late. The fire of Tuesday in the building of the Terminal Storage company was not quite so bad as that of the Mountable building, but it was in a building supposed to be generally fireproof. That was the strange feature of this particular fire. It is plain that even in such a building the fire had may creep in and do much damage. It is understood of course that the contents of fireproof buildings may be very valuable and that was actually the case in some of the recent New York fires. As to fireproof construction it partakes of variety like anything else and hence there is good and bad. It is also true that new devices in fireproof construction are being brought out every year and hence the fireproof building of a dozen years ago are not as securely fireproof as those erected at the present time. Buildings can be made absolutely fireproof if the proprietors pay the price, but very few want to do so. Yet the difference in the insurance rates makes the extra expenditure a paying investment. The insurance men cannot be fooled by any false fireproof construction. Where the fire losses are so heavy as at New York it would seem that the most extensively preventive measures need to be most effective methods of fighting fires should be provided regardless of cost.

THE CAR INSPECTOR LOOKING FOR UNSOUND WHEELS

SEEN AND HEARD

When the devil gains control of the tongue he don't care much what is done by the hands and feet.

A right state of heart cannot be maintained without keeping a close watch on the tongue.

One should take great care not to grow too wise for so great a pleasure of life as laughter. Addison.

Many a man hides his wife's coffin with roses, who never gave her a five-dollar bill to do as she pleased with.

I don't believe that harmless cheerfulness and good humor are thought greater sins in heaven than strict cellars are.—Dickens.

"In Boston," said my very desirable friend, "there is at least one place outside of the North End district where the Italian is at home. This is in the Boston Opera House. While seated in its gallery one evening recently, listening to a popular opera, engaged in conversation with a young man beside me. Evidently of Italian blood, he, one could see, was a man who worked hard for a living. For though his suit was carefully pressed and his linen immaculately white, his weather beaten face and rough hands indicated that his occupation was one of manual labor. Moreover, he expressed himself in rather poor English. However, while he may not have occupied a prominent position in society he could boast of one thing of culture which is lacking in many of more polished gentlemen, that of a love for classical music. When the inspiring voices of the singers and the entrancing melodies of the musicians blended into a superb harmony, his black eyes invariably would reflect every emotion expressed in the song and his concert listening was that of one mentally intoxicated by the exquisite music. 'Bravo, bravo,' he would exclaim as each aria died away and in his enthusiasm he would lean to me to ascertain whether I, too, had appreciated the work of the artist. Then, during the intermission, he began to talk on music, a subject with which he appeared thoroughly familiar, but I, not being so, started the channel and in a short time we were discussing the famous men of his native land. He was delighted when I spoke of the many geniuses whom Italy had given to the world, of Dante, Michael Angelo, Raphael, Da Vinci, Columbus and other renowned Italians of bygone centuries. In a tone of pardonable pride and with a warmth of expression that was most pleasing, he in turn extolled their many virtues and wonderful accomplishments. On the character of Columbus, or, in his pronunciation, Colombo, he dwelt at great length. His comments on the eventful career of this great discoverer were doubly interesting through being delivered with the accent of that language in which Columbus himself spoke. The magnificent cathedrals, historic castles and imposing monuments that attract all lovers of noble architecture to Italy, he spoke about in the same vein of unbridled pride and tenderness. As he talked thus it seemed strange, indeed, that one of his apparently humble station should be so thoroughly acquainted with the great deeds of men about whom so little is known by the ordinary person. He was, it is true, speaking of men of his own race, but as comparison, how many men of Celtic or Saxon origin occupying the same lofty station might be found who are as well informed on the history of the people from whom they have sprung.

or in the achievements of their most noted countrymen?

MAIDENHOOD
You have raised the cup to your lips to drink.
You have opened your eyes to see,
Fearless you stand upon the brink,
Where many have stood, to plunge
and sink.
Through the wash of the waves, to their unknown graves,
In the depth of an angry sea.

Ah, child, girl child, is it well you learn?
You are pure and young, and the lesson is hard:
You stand on the threshold now and yearn
To pass the gates, but the world is stern.

There are thorns to reap, there are
tears to weep,
And many feet are scarred.

We must walk the road till the close of day;
But why—why grieve before you need?
'Twere better far your feet should stray
Through fields than tread life's dreary way.

Better you sing and the young voice
ring,
Than that your heart should bleed.

Alas, my dear, and stay your hand,
Nor open the gate to sorrow and
fret;
Tarry awhile in the golden land,
There is time and to spare to understand.
Stay your feet when the stream runs
sweet,
Tarry a little yet.

LYNES TO A SKELETON

This poem is anonymous. The manuscript of the poem, which appeared in 1824, was said to have been found in the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, in London, near a perfect human skeleton. The author was never discovered, although a reward of 50 guineas was offered at the time of its publication for the name of the writer. The verses follow:

Behold this ruin! 'T was a skull
Once of ethereal spirit full.
This narrow cell was life's retreat;
This space was thought's mysterious seat;
What deceptions visions filled this spot!
What dreams of pleasure long forgot!
Now hope, now joy, now love, now fear
Has left one trace of record here.

Beneath this mouldering canopy
Once shone the bright and busy eye;
But start not at the dismal void—
It sealed love that eye employed,
It with no lawless fire it glared,
But through the dews of kindness
beamed.

That eye shall be forever bright
When stars and sun are such in night.

Within this hollow cavern hung
The ready, swift, and tuneful tongue;
If falsehood's honey it disdained,
And when it could not praise was chained.

If held in Virtue's cause it spoke,
Yet gentle concord never broke—
This silent tongue shall play for thee
When Time unveils Eternity!

Say, did these fingers delve the mine,
Or with the chisel rubric shine?
To hew the rock, or wear a gem,
'Twas little now avail to them;
But if the page of Truth they sought,
Or comfort to the mourner brought,
'Twas hands a richer mine of shall claim.

Then all that wait on Wealth and Pame.

Avails it whether bare or shod,
'Twas feet the path of duty trod?
If from the bowers of Ease they fled,
To seek Affliction's humble shed;
If Grandeur's giddy bribe they spurned.

And home to Virtue's cot returned—
'Twas feet with angel wings shall vie,
And tread the palace of the sky!

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Springfield Union: The New York court of appeals has handed down a decision calculated to make critics of automobiles and other vehicles more careful when they are approaching street crossings. It is revolutionary in that it puts responsibility for accidents on the drivers, holding that for an accident victim to recover damages it is not necessary for him to prove that he looked either to the right or left before attempting to cross the street. Peculiar for personal safety, of course, should make a pedestrian careful to

GRAND TRUNK SCHEME

Worcester Post: The first issue over the Grand Trunk petition for authority to build into Boston and Worcester, received yesterday by the legislative committee on rules, is raised over the fact that it was not advertised and was also entered after expiration Saturday of the time for the introduction of new bills. A four-fifths vote will be necessary for suspension of rules to admit it but there ought to be no difficulty, for a resolution was passed last year inviting the Grand Trunk to come to Boston.

AMERICAN BEEP BARRED

Boston Post: The British government's action in barring the indicated American beep packers from bidding for supplies for her army and navy until the present criminal trials are concluded is admitted to be a "severe blow" to that nation's combination, cutting off its largest market. The admission doesn't, however, quite fit the claim that short supplies have been the cause of high prices. The British action has been taken under pressure from labor interests and radicals. Perhaps also it includes recognition of "supplies" to our army in the Spanish war.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Mrs. Arthur Iselin and other New York society women have a bad for growing miniature cacti. Few of the varieties reach a height of over six inches.

G. Edward Buxton, Jr., a young lawyer of Providence, has been engaged by the committee on endowment fund of Brown university to devote his entire time to the raising of the new million dollar fund for the next few months. He will establish offices in the administration building, and expects to enlist in the campaign a number of alumni in Rhode Island and elsewhere in New England.

By means of an underwater wireless system, his brothers, John S. Shea and Daniel S. Shea, who served as volunteer officers during the Spanish-American war, hope they will be able to prevent loss of life in disasters among the submarine fleets of the world. Their invention, it is declared, will allow communication from the bed of the ocean with vessels on the surface and with land stations. They hope to have the system available for all submarine vessels. A mast is mounted on a buoyant support or raft carried by the submarine and is equipped with a yardarm for the receiving wire of a wireless system. This mast can be used for the visible mast, too, when the vessel is at the top. Another feature of the invention is that the mast is serviceable in assisting in rescuing the crew when the submarine becomes disabled while submerged.

Lillian Nordica's private car, "Isolda," is her home this month. Concerts have been or will be given at Indianapolis, Lansing, Grand Rapids, Battle Creek, Saginaw, Port Wayne, Bloomington and St. Louis, after which Madame Nordica will return to New York for a concert with the Philharmonic orchestra in Brooklyn on Jan. 28. During February she will sing with the Boston Opera company, the important feature of the engagement to be a special series of Wagnerian performances, which Felix Weingartner will conduct.

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans is said to have left his wife all out penniless. Her children are grown up and married but for his wife there is little or nothing. She will get a pension of thirty dollars a month and an effort will be made to have this increased.

Cleveland has elected a woman superintendent of schools. The appointee, Miss Harriet Keeler, is a former teacher and has been on the pension rolls for some time. The administrative machinery of the Cleveland schools has not been running smoothly during the past few years and the choice of Miss Keeler is regarded as a step toward harmony between teachers and supervisors.

MORSE IS SET FREE

CHARLES W. MORSE,
Banker Whose Sentence Was Commuted by Pres. Taft.

Pres. Taft Commuted Sentence of the Convicted Banker

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—President Taft last night commuted to expire immediately the 15 year sentence for violation of the national banking laws under which Charles W. Morse, the New York banker and "too king" has served two years in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

The commutation which gives Morse complete freedom—but unlike a pardon does not restore his civil rights—was granted upon recommendation of Attorney General Wickersham and Surgeon-General Torney.

According to the surgeon general's report to the president, Morse could not live "one month longer" in confinement and even at liberty probably would not live six months.

The White House statement granting freedom to Morse follows:

ITCHING AND BURNING ON HANDS

Would Wake in Night and Scratch
Until It Bled. Then a Rash Spread
All Over Her Baby's Head. Used
Cuticura Remedies, Both Cured.

28 Hubbard St., Middletown, Conn.—
"About four years ago my hands broke out with eczema. It began with an itching and burning. I could almost scratch my hands off, and then clear watery matter would ooze out. From it began to spread all over my hand and fingers and towards the last it began to go up my arms. I tried almost every ointment I could think of but it got worse. It would seem almost well at times and then it would break out worse as bad. It was very hard for me to do any housework. I would wake in the night and scratch until it would bleed, and in the morning it would be so sore I would have to put my hands in water.

"When my baby girl was two months old her face broke out in a rash and she would rub it on the pillow, or anywhere she could, so I knew by that that it must itch. It began to spread all over her head, and she would be very cross. I used most everything. I began to get alarmed and thought it might spread all over her body, so I thought I would try Cuticura Ointment. I got a box, and after a while I could see it was doing her good. I also got a cake of Cuticura Soap and bathed her with it and in a short time her head was clear. She is now a year old and her complexion is clear as a day.

"When I found it did her good I used it myself. I used Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap and I also took Cuticura Pills. After a while my hands began to get well. I used two (25c) cakes of Cuticura Soap, one cake of Ointment and two 25c bottles of Pills, and today I am thankful to say we are both cured. I think the Cuticura Cures are worth their weight in gold." (Signed) Mrs. L. Schraft, Oct. 16, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 25c. box. Address: "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tendered free should have with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

WIVES TO TESTIFY

In Effort to Prove Alibi
for Husbands

BROCKTON, Jan. 18.—Mrs. Harry C. Howard, wife of Mayor Howard; Mrs. William H. Powers, wife of a local democratic leader and herself prominent in St. Patrick's church; and Mrs. Edward Gilmore, wife of the district campaign manager for Gov. Foss, will be summoned as witnesses against Patrolman Chester W. Osborne, against whom charges have been preferred by ex-representative Edward Gilmore and ex-Alderman William H. Powers. They will be expected to give testimony to refute the statement made prior to the municipal election by patrolman Osborne to the effect that he saw Mr. Gilmore and Mr. Powers leave the house of Mayor Howard at 3 o'clock one morning 10 days before the election.

The three ladies will give testimony to assist their husbands in establishing an alibi that morning.

The hearing will be next Tuesday morning at city hall, and will be public. Patrolman Osborne is now under a suspension of 30 days, Mayor Howard having charged him privately with making an untrue statement regarding the alleged visit of the two democratic leaders.

Gilmore and Powers brought the same charge this week, and also charged the patrolman with being illegally married, claiming he married Miss Nettie Beers Sept. 4, 1903, within two years after he had been divorced from his first wife.

The second charge was first learned by Osborne and his wife Wednesday and yesterday afternoon they were married again by Clinton F. Packard, assistant city clerk, in the latter's office. Judge Charles C. King having requested the clerk to perform the ceremony without waiting five days as required by the new law. Patrolman and Mrs. Osborne were accompanied by their two children.

Not in years has any case been so widely discussed in public, following the private hearing given Osborne by Mayor Howard.

WIFE TESTIFIED

SHE SAID THAT HUSBAND WANTED TO SELL CHILD

freely shed in Judge A. R. Bell's court yesterday when Mrs. Frances B. Lisbon, a handsome young woman, suing her husband Harry D. Lisbon, for divorce, declared that her husband wanted to sell their 6-year-old daughter Margaret to an Italian count for $50,000. Judge Bell immediately granted her the divorce and she left the courtroom with her little daughter clasped to her breast.

The young wife said her husband came home one night several weeks ago and breathlessly exclaimed:

"O, Bessie, we can be rich. An Italian count has just promised to give $50,000 for little Margaret. We'll let him have baby and we'll get the money. Well, he's rich. I told him I would bring Margaret to him if you would consent." Mrs. Lisbon said she failed at the proposition. The husband, angered, left the house and the next day Mrs. Lisbon entered divorce proceedings against him.
